SCHOOL TAX RAISE IS PROPOSED

Senate Passes Betting Referendum

Leader Warning Of Veto

HARRISBURG (UP)—The state Senate, ignoring Gov. George M Leader's sharp warning of a possible gubernatorial veto, sent the proposed horse race betting bill into the backstretch today in the race for the November statewide ballot.

Less than an hour after the governor announced he changed his mind and indicated he would veto the referendum for pari-mutuel horse racing if it reached his desk, the Senate voted 26-22 Tuesday night to pass the bill and send it to the House.

The governor's statement drew caustic criticism from members of his own party, as well as Republican supporters of the measure.

Eight Republicans joined 18 of the 21 Democrats attending the session to push the bill across, without a single vote to spare. It marked the first time in the state's history that a measure pertaining to the legalizing of horse race betting cleared one of the legislative chambers.

Leader's veto warning was a complete about-face from what the governor only recently announced would be his policy on the bill. At his news conference last week, the governor noted that he was personally opposed to gambling in any form. But he said also that he "would not stand in the way of the people" voting in a referendum.

Thus, Leader's announcement Tuesday afternoon that he opposes such a referendum caught the lawmakers by surprise.

The governor said that after "deep and intensive consideration" he decided that approval of the referendum "represents a side-stepping of responsibility."

Opposed to Gambling

"I don't believe in side-stepping responsibility any more than I believe in gambling," the governor said. "I am opposed to gambling I will keep on being opposed to gambling. Therefore, I am opposed to this referendum."

The governor's statement prompted charges from both sides that he was attempting to influence the voting on the question. One of the sharpest comments came from Senate Democratic Leader John H. Dent (Westmoreland) who said it "was not the first time he had had the rug pulled from under him."

"This obvious attempt to influence this legislation by presenting a statement such as this is one that goes beyond the duties of a governor," Dent said. "When one of the branches of government becomes subservient to another branch, the mere veiled threat of action against that branch can determine the course

Two from Area For Referendum; One Is Against

HARRISBURG (UP)—Unit rule was not imposed by either party in the state Senate vote Tuesday night on the controversial horse race betting referendum bill.

Of the 26 votes which sent the proposal to the House, 18 were Democratic and eight Republican. Three Democrats opposed the measure along with 19 Republicans.

The recorded vote was:

Democratic Sens. Israel Stiefel and John J. McCreesh, both of Philadelphia, were absent.

Youth Burned Playing with Gasoline Jug

Nine-year-old William Gilmer, of R. D. 3, Monongahela, is in "good" condition today after receiving third degree burns about the body and face Monday night when a jug of white gasoline exploded as he was laying a "fire trail" on a soccer field in Gallatin

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Gilmer, William is being treated for severe burns at Monongahela Memorial Hospital.

The boy and two companions had gone to the soccer field to play when they found the jug of gasoline. They decided to make a "fire trail" with it pour the gasoline on the field in a straight line and then set a match to it.

In some way, the gasoline was ignited prematurely and the explosion resulted.

His two companions were not burned.

Hussein's Hold Is Stronger

By UNITED PRESS

Diplomatic officials in Washington reported today that Syria was prepared to withdraw its troops from Jordan within a week in a move that would strengthen King Hussein's prestige throughout the Middle East.

Hussein also appeared to be strengthening his hold on Jordan although Western diplomats expressed fear the end of the Moslem holy month of Ramadan today might bring new disorders in the country.

Hussein told newsmen Tuesday the "crisis is ending' in Jordan after his strong steps to put down Communism there and to "oust the destructive elements" that caused trouble there.

Moscow Support Cooling

United Press Correspondent Donald J. Gonzales reported from Washington that Syria's expected action in withdrawing troops could be linked with increasing signs Moscow may be having second thoughts about its previous warm support for Egypt and Syria during the Mideast emergency.

Moscow Radio, which has concentrated in past weeks on what it called American "intervention' in the Mideast took a new tack today. It called for immediate cessation of all arms shipments to the Mideast in an effort to ease the tension there.

In Beirut, Lebanon, Foreign Minister Charles Malik told the United Press he welcomed the appearance of the U.S. 6th Fleet in eastern Mediterranean waters and said he hoped U.S. determination to resist Communist penetration in the Mideast would bear fruit in the near future.

Word of American determination to keep the peace in the Mideast came from Vice Adm. Charles H. Brown, commander of the 6th Fleet. He said in a U. P interview he was ready for anything there "from a brush fire to all out war."

Sen. Hubert H Humphrey conferred for three hours Tuesday night with President Gamal Abdel Nasser in Cairo and said early this morning he had found Nasser "not happy but not bitter" about relations with the United States.

The Minnesota Democrat himself criticized the United States for failing to send food and medicine to Egypt when it needed it badly and said food should not be used as a political weapon when a nation is suffering. He quoted Nasser as saying Russia sent wheat to Egypt when it needed it most.

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Federal Housing Agency today approved a $709,616 loan and a $490,865 capital grant for slum clearance in Sharon, Pa.

BREAK GROUND FOR NEW CATHOLIC SCHOOL — Over 500 persons gathered on a hill off Coyle Rd. in Carroll Twp. yesterday afternoon to witness the ground-breaking ceremonies for the new Monongahela Valley Catholic High School. The Very Rev. Msgr. Jacob Shiner, secretary to Bishop John F. Deardon, of Pittsburgh, is addressing the crowd. Seated at left is the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Joseph A. Kushner, pastor of St. Dominic's Parish, Donora, and moderator of the high school campaign. The school will cost in excess of $1,000,000. A total of $900,000 has already been raised through subscriptions. Visiting priests and nuns took part in the ceremony.

Reds Beat U.S. to Punch Over Atoms-for-Peace Plan

WASHINGTON (UP) — The Soviet Union has stolen a march on President Eisenhower's atoms-for-peace program, the United Press has learned.

An official announcement has not been made.

With no fanfare at all Soviet Ambassador Georgi N. Zaroubin has called at the State Department to deposit the Soviet government's approval of the international atomic energy agency statute. This is the outgrowth of Eisenhower's famous Dec. 8, 1953, proposal for promoting peaceful uses of atomic energy.

Administration officials said the Soviet Union's speedy action on the atomic statute is "awkward" for the United States.

After first condemning the President's atomic proposal the Soviets did a turn-around when they saw world opinion was in favor of the project.

Senate Action Pending

Eisenhower submitted the atomic energy statute to the Senate March 21 with hopes for speedy action. The administration now hopes the Senate Foreign Relations Committee can start hearings May 9.

Zaroubin and his Moscow superiors apparently decided not to make a big propaganda play out of their quick action on the atoms-for-peace plan.

The Soviet Embassy telephoned the State Department's treaty division on the morning of April 8 and said the ambassador would be in that day with the Soviet ratification. Zaroubin called later in the day and deposited Russia's ratification, along with that of Byelorussia.

Three Red Backers

Guatemala was the first nation to deposit its ratification. Switzerland was the second. Then came the Soviet Union, Byelorussia and Romania, on April 12. Thus three of the first five ratifications have been by Communist countries. The agency will come into being when 18 of 80 signatory nations have deposited their ratifications.

Plans already have been made to hold the first general conference of the world atomic agency in Vienna Aug. 19.

The agency eventually will serve as a world atomic bank or pool of basic nuclear fuels such as U235 and plutonium, which are used in research and power reactors. These fuels would be allocated to peaceful projects in member countries. The agency also will encourage exchange of information on peaceful uses of atomic energy, and exchange and training of scientists and experts.

Bonus Bill Is One Step Closer To the Ballot

HARRISBURG (UP)—Proposals for a 150 million dollar bonus for Pennsylvania's Korean War veterans and for absentee voting for civilians moved one step closer today to places on the November ballot.

The bonus question was okayed by the Senate Committee on Constitutional Changes Tuesday night, together with the proposal to allow persons absent from their regular voting precincts due to business or illness to cast ballots by mail.

Both measures cleared the 1955-56 Legislature and were approved by the House earlier in the current session. A constitutional change requires approval of two successive Legislatures and an affirmative vote in a statewide referendum.

Meanwhile, the House Judiciary Special Committee reported to the floor legislation that would authorize wiretapping with court permission by the state attorney general, district attorneys and chiefs of police.

Armed Bandits Hold Up Richeyville Club

Two armed bandits held up the Miner's Club in Richeyville about 1:45 this morning and escaped with an estimated $300 in cash, State Police reported.

The two men entered the club, forced the steward, William Griffin, 54, to put money from the cash register into a bag, rifled the safe and then fled in a waiting car.

Before leaving, the towel-hooded bandits warned Griffin not to report the theft to police.

Driver Arrested Near High School

George Crea, of 1230 McMahon Ave., Monessen, was arrested for traveling too fast for conditions yesterday afternoon about 1 o'clock at the intersection of Sixth St. and Knox Ave, Chief of Police Michael Kuvinka reported today

Crea, Kuvinka stated, "was showing off to students at the high school" when arrested.

He will be scheduled for a hearing before a local alderman.

Seeks Damages For Accident Near Twilight

Roy S Porterfield, of R D. 1, Carmichaels, has filed suit to recover more than $2,500 for injuries alleged to have been received in an automobile collision.

The suit in Washington County court is against Adolph Bergstein, of Monessen; Krasik's Farm Service, of 118 Lincoln Ave., Charleroi, and Michael Yakin, Jr., of Bentleyville.

The alleged accident occurred at about 1 p. m. May 2, 1956, on the Twilight Road, Charleroi. Porterfield was a passenger in a car owned by the Krasik Farm Service and operated by Bergstein

The complaint states that Yakin, driving ahead of the Krasik car, drove off his left side of the road when near his home, and then back onto it without stopping. It is stated that the Krasik car collided with the Yakin machine as it came back onto the road

It is claimed that Porterfield was severely and permanently injured.

Budget not Highest; Base Pay Is Raised

Last night's proposed 1957-58 Monessen school budget amounting to $1,122,083.50 is not a record-high budget. The all-time high was $1,536,376.68 in 1951-52.

Most of the $77,275 increase in instructional services will go for teacher salaries, Supt. Joseph Pallone said the minimum pay for starting teachers next year has been set at $3,200 by the state However, the base pay has been set at $3,400 by the local district.

All teachers will receive state-mandated increases in the proposed budget. Eighty-six instructors will receive boosts amounting to $400 while 22 will be boosted from this year's minimum of $3,000 to next year's $3,400, plus a mandated increase. A teacher receiving $3,000 this year will receive $3,500 next year. Teachers receiving $3,100 this year will have $3,600 at their total next year.

The three-mill tax increase will hit the Monessen plant of Pittsburgh Steel Co, the hardest. Already the biggest school taxpayer at $250,000 a year, the company is faced with paying $48,000 more if the proposed budget is approved on May 28.

Besides a meeting to act on the budget on May 28, the School Board will also meet to take action on a proposed $275,000 bond issue needed to pay off an accumulation of back debts, some of which date back to 1951.

Directors present at last night's half-hour meeting were John Lancas, president, and Dr. Joseph M Dudas, Nicholas Cullen, Alexander Kachmarik, John Kossar and Romeo Farco. The other member, Perry Cozza, is hospitalized.

All directors voted for the introduction of the proposed budget. Kachmarik, however, said he "wasn't entirely satisfied with the teacher salary increases." He made this comment before voting for the motion and did not elaborate.

Local Budget to Call for Boost Of Three Mills

The Monessen School Board last night introduced a proposed budget for the 1957-58 school year calling for a tax increase of three mills.

The increase will boost the present tax rate of 16 mills to 19 mills if the budget is finally approved.

The proposed budget calls for expenditures of $1,122,083.50, an increase of $112,247.35 over the current budget of $989,836.25.

Supt. Joseph Pallone said the three-mill increase, which will amount to $98,215.47 in additional revenue, is necessary to meet state-mandated salary increases for teachers, higher operating costs, debts and fixed charges, such as retirement benefits, social security and insurance premiums.

Under the proposed budget most of the revenue, as usual, will come from property taxes. The estimated revenue from real estate for 1957-58 amounts to $622,031.28, or an increase of $106,178.26 over the current figure of $515,853.02.

Teacher Increases

The second highest income item will be state appropriations — $309,914.72 as against this year's $269,281.98. This increase will help carry most of the load resulting from salary increases for teachers.

Wage-income tax receipts are expected to total $145,000 as compared to $136,000 this year.

The proposed budget also estimates $18,000 from deed transfer taxes, $6,000 from tuition for non-resident students and $3,000 from amusement taxes, the latter a drop of $1,000 from this year's budget.

Delinquent taxes, along with sources, such as material sales and miscellaneous, complete the expected receipts.

Like the City and County governments, the School Board is making no immediate provision for the eventual elimination of industrial machinery as a source of tax revenue

Expenses Are Up

A state law forbids assessing machinery as real estate, a practice which has prevailed in Monessen and Westmoreland County for many years. However, most major industries have volunteered to continue paying taxes on their machinery through the present tax year.

On the expenditure side of the spending item is instructional services, including teacher salaries, supplies and other expenses. The total of $736,480 for this purpose in the 1957-58 budget is $77,275 more than the $659,205 in the present budget.

With the exception of capital outlay, there will be increases in all expenditures. Operation of the school plant will cost $110,285 instead of $102,460, an increase of $7,825; fixed charges will be boosted by $22,600 over the current outlay of $53,550; debt service, including payments for bonds, will be hiked from $72,061.50 to $84,532.50. Capital outlay will decrease from $3,450 to $3,200.

In commenting on the budget, Dr. Pallone said:

"We will be operating on an ab-

Speaks to His Mother After 32 Years Apart

MIAMI BEACH (UP) — Lester Lee, 56, of Pensacola, Fla., said it was "like a voice from the dead" when his 82-year-old mother spoke to him on a telephone after a 32-year separation.

Lee and his mother, Mrs. Mae Lynch, each thought the other was dead until chance led to their reunion here.

Lee said he came here to attend a mosquito control convention and decided on the spur of the moment to call an aunt, Mrs. Stella Radenbush.

Another woman answered the telephone and he asked for his aunt. At first she was unbelieving, but finally gasped: "Do you know who you just talked with? It was your mother."

Then Lee gasped.

He explained he left Pensacola about 1925, traveled extensively for about 10 years, and returned to Pensacola to find his mother gone. Her property had been sold under circumstances indicating she had died.

Mrs. Lynch said she moved to New Jersey while her son was traveling and wrote letters to him in care of Pensacola general delivery. When the mail was not picked up, she said she assumed he was dead.

Nixon Predicts Internal Revolt In Soviet Empire

CHICAGO (UP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon predicted Tuesday night that the uprisings in Poland and Hungary marked the beginning of an internal revolt that will "sweep away the Communist empire."

Nixon spoke before the joint defense appeal of the American Jewish Committee and the Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith. After the meeting, at which Nixon received an award for promoting fair employment practices, the vice president returned to Washington.

Nixon said the recent revolts against Communist rule served as a warning to the Kremlin that the armies of its Red-dominated satellites would not be reliable in the event of a decisive struggle between democracy and Communism.

Prior to his talk, Nixon told United Press a great anti-Communist revolution will occur, but "no one can predict when."

He said Russia's leaders know the pressures for freedom are mounting "until some day there will be a decisive revolt at the very center of the Communist empire.

"When that day comes the entire rotten structure will collapse of its own weight."

State GOP Outlines Platform

Plans 'No New Taxes'; Sharp Cuts in Government Spending

HARRISBURG (UP) — Republican legislative leaders were reported today ready to announce a broad GOP platform based on a "no new taxes" concept and a sharp curtailment of state government spending "to the bone."

A top Republican legislator said final details of the extensive platform and its various planks were reached during House and Senate GOP caucuses Tuesday.

The source, who asked not to be identified, said the program was a restatement of party policy to stay clear of enacting additional taxes and a virtual denial of Gov. George M. Leader's proposed administration program tied up in GOP-dominated Assembly committees.

The platform outlined these planks to guide the Republican controlled Legislature:

—Pruning of 100 million dollars from Gov. Leader's 1957-59 budget to keep it within the Republican's $1,500,000,000 framework.

—Providing the 31 million dollar teachers' salary increase passed by the 1955 session. Leader vetoed a companion measure last session to finance the salary hike.

—Holding the line on enactment of any new forms of taxation.

—Asking the Joint State Government Commission to conduct a study of the state's motor vehicle code for evidence of antiquated provisions.

The program also contained generalized statements, similar to the national Republican platform, outlining the GOP sentiment toward labor and the farmer.

Dims Leader's Hopes

The platform was viewed as a rebuff of any hopes Leader may have for passage of his 200 bill program. The governor huddles Thursday afternoon with legislative leaders from both parties to repeat pleas that the Assembly pass the bulk of his program.

The source said the GOP favored "cutting spending to the bone" to end what he termed the "spiralling" cost of operating the administration.

The 27 member Senate GOP delegation was responsible for the "plank" calling for the Assembly's research arm to review the vehicle code in an outgrowth of last week's conference on the traffic court system. The senators rejected House sentiment for a traffic safety program, clearing the way for the 1959 session to revise the code to bring it up to date.

The source said the tallest hurdles facing Republicans in the current session were trimming the budget and finding the money for the teachers' salary increases.

He said the GOP held a trump card in some 50 million dollars in tax relief to business promised but not yet enacted. He said legislation could be presented to extend the 41 million dollar manufacturers' exemption to the capital stock tax if it became apparent the teachers pay and budget cuts could not be made.

The manufacturers' exemption becomes effective Jan. 1 unless extended The House has legislation in committee to repeal about nine million dollars in so-called "nuisance" taxes on business.

Five Senators Officially Named To Hall of Fame

WASHINGTON (UP) — Contemporaries sometimes saw them as an unrelenting isolationist, an unyielding conservative, a selfish champion of slavery, an uneducated immoral conniver and an unethical self-seeker.

But those five men — Former Senators Robert M La Follette Sr., of Wisconsin, Robert A. Taft of Ohio, John C. Calhoun of South Carolina, Henry Clay of Kentucky, and Daniel Webster of Massachusetts — will grace the Senate's own Hall of Fame.

Not because of certain traits, of course, but in spite of them. A committee of present day senators selected them Tuesday from all the rest to be honored.

Their portraits will fill the gilded, eagle crested blank spaces in the reception room just off the Senate floor. From that vantage point the portraits will look down as the senators of later years meet and chat with their constituents.

Selection committee chairman John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.), who was to announce the choices formally in a Senate speech today, said the five were not named as the greatest senators "of all time" but rather as five "outstanding persons" who served in the Senate.

More Whooping Cranes Found; At Least Reported

WASHINGTON (UP)—A wildlife bureaucrat shivered with joy today over word that 19 more rare whooping cranes may exist.

The 19 were reported to be whooping it up in Nebraska and South Dakota Previously only 24 of the big birds were known to exist.

Frederick C. Lincoln, assistant director of the Interior Departments division of sports fisheries and wildlife, said the reports are "perfectly credible."

"But," he added, "we've had such reports before. If they can be checked it usually turns out that the 'whooping cranes' are white pelicans."

"We've got spotters looking for the birds. I certainly hope they turn up."

The big birds have a wingspan of about six feet. They get their name from the whooping call they give.

Speeding Motorist Eludes Police

A young unidentified motorist drove away from a Brownsville service station last night without paying for gasoline and eluded police in a nine-mile chase at speeds exceeding 100 miles an hour.

The chase ended when the car struck a curb and wrecked near Bentleyville. The unidentified driver jumped from the wrecked car and fled in his stocking feet.

The wrecked car had been stolen earlier from a Brownsville resident.

GE Workers Out on Strike

LYNN, Mass. (UP)—About 20,500 General Electric Co. workers on strike at plants here and in Everett, Mass., since last Thursday were due back to work today.

The five-day old walkout was settled Tuesday night when officials of the International Union of Electrical Workers and company leaders discussed their differences with federal and state mediators at city hall.

Clergymen from various churches also took part, calling the strike a "moral crisis."

Two of the major issues in the strike, a two-day suspension of a shop steward and a compulsory overtime item, will go to arbitration. The third grievance, involving transfer and layoff policy, will go through regular union procedure.

mills would not have been possible three years ago. At that time, the City Council, which fixes property valuations on which both city and school taxes are based increased all assessments by one-third in order to get around a legal technicality which was preventing full utilization of wage-income tax revenue.

Simultaneously both the city and school district reduced their tax rates on real estate by one-third so that property owners, even though their assessments were increased, would not actually pay more taxes.

The former school tax rate was 24 mills — just one mill below the legal maximum of 25 mills Hence, had City Council not jacked up property valuations, the School Board now would have to look for other sources of revenue to balance its proposed new budget.

Two Stages of Satellite Rocket Fired by Navy

WASHINGTON (UP) — Two stages of the three-stage satellite rocket roared up over the earth for the first time early today from Patrick Air Force Base, Fla.

The Navy announced the two-stage rocket soared 120 miles up over the Atlantic before the second stage detached itself and roared out to sea.

The Navy said the second stage of the rocket finally fell into the Atlantic after using up its fuel. The distance it flew was not disclosed.

The test was the second in a series working up to the firing of a three-stage rocket The Navy said it primarily tested methods of high altitude separation of rocket stages.

However, scientists tracked with delicate instruments the entire flight of the two-stage rocket after it roared skyward.

The Navy said the rocket rose vertically a short distance, tilted toward the horizon and shot out over the ocean. It said the rocket reached a peak velocity of 3,500 miles an hour.

The first test firing in the satellite project involved only a Viking. The big rocket soared 125 miles above the earth last Dec. 8 at a peak speed of 4,010 miles an hour.

Soviet People Observe May Day in Moscow

MOSCOW (UP)—Soviet Defense Minister Marshal Georgi Zhukov declared in a May Day statement today the Soviet people "do not forget the danger of a new war."

The statement was in the form of an order of the day to the armed forces participating in the giant annual May Day parade salute to Communism.

More than 1,000 foreign diplomats and visitors were on hand to witness the march through Red Square, but for the first time in years foreigners were not permitted to take photographs.

Premier Nikolai Bulganin, Communist Party chief Nikita S Khrushchev and other party leaders were to address the throngs from the top of the Lenin-Stalin Mausoleum.

Zhukov's statement said Russian working people "welcome May Day with new victories in all fields of the economic and cultural life of our country.

"While devoting all their forces to the cause of building Communism, the Soviet people do not forget the danger of a new war and are strengthening the might of their socialist state.

"Soviet warriors must continue consistently to learn the use of new military arms, to perfect their military skill and to raise the military preparedness of the troops."

Clairton Plant Blast Takes Life; 22 Hurt

CLAIRTON, Pa. (UP)—The coke oven department at the United States Steel Corp. works here operated at only 10 to 15 per cent of rated capacity today following a gas line explosion which killed one man and injured 22 others.

Two of the injured still were listed in critical condition. Seven were in serious condition.

U.S. Steel officials said plant operations were normal, except for the coke oven department. Unless damage proved to be greater than estimated, production in the department was expected to increase by noon. There was no indication when normal operations would be resumed.

The worker killed in Tuesday's explosion was Leo Scott, 37, of Library, a crane operator.

The injured in critical condition were Homer Johnston, 37, Coalfield, and Charles A. Byard, 56, Dravosburg, general foreman at the coal and chemical plant.

Those in serious condition were Charles Bulla, 53, East Liverpool, Ohio; Paul Klass, 47, New Eagle; Francis O'Brien, 27, Braddock; Jack Kelly, 39, Seward; James Gaus, 46, Pittsburgh; Norman Ross, 25, McKeesport; and Edward Kennedy, 25, Clairton.

Six were injured when a crane boom pulled and dropped a heavy casting on two gas lines setting off an explosion which shot flames 100 feet in the air and blanketed the area with dense clouds of smoke.

Scott and a number of the injured were employes of the Wilputte Coke Oven Division of the Allied Chemical & Dye Corp., which is doing contract work in the steel works.

Woman Flees State; Afraid to Testify at Pardons Board Probe

HARRISBURG (UP)—A Philadelphia woman was reported to have fled to Baltimore to avoid a subpena requiring her to appear today before the legislative committee investigating the state Pardons Board.

Mrs. Ruby Werner Costello had been expected to bring charges of graft against Pardons Board Secretary Frank R. Hean.

State Police Lt. Russel Knieg and Sgt. Lester Jackson told the committee when hearings were to resume this morning that they went to her West Philadelphia home Tuesday night and were informed by her husband that she left the state to avoid enforcement of the subpena.

The committee, which had hoped to wind up its 11 weeks of sessions today, went into executive session following the disclosure.

Previously, Mrs. Costello, sister of former Harrisburg Postmaster Leo Werner, was reported to have accused Hean of accepting $50 to obtain favorable consideration from the board on her husband's clemency application last year.

James Costello was convicted in 1934 of armed robbery and sentenced to 10-20 years imprisonment. Released after serving 8½ years, he asked the board to commute his maximum sentence last December.

The board rejected the application, which would have released him from parole supervision.

Hean denied that he accepted any money for the purpose of influencing the board, but said that as an attorney in private practice, he received a $25 fee from Mrs. Costello to check her interests in the estate of her late father.

Mrs. Costello was subpenaed by the committee and attended the committee hearings last week, but was not called to testify until Monday, when she was absent.

Contacted at her home, she told assistant committee counsel James W. Evans that she was now, "afraid to testify in the open."

of legislation. Then our democracy is deteriorating."

Dent also said that while Leader was a senator he voted in favor of a similar referendum.

Sen. Benjamin R. Donolow (D-Philadelphia) termed Leader's statement just prior to the crucial vote on the measure "certainly not in the best interests of democracy in Pennsylvania."

Asks Voting Right

"To deprive the people back home of the privilege of saying 'yes' or 'no' on this measure is the same as saying—we will dictate to you what is right and what is wrong," Donolow said.

Leader's statement also aroused resentment in Republican ranks. Sen. James S. Berger (R-Potter), an avowed opponent of the proposed referendum, termed it "untimely, unwarranted and unjustified."

The only defense of the governor's action came from Sen. Harry E. Seyler (D-York), who represents the governor's home county. Selyer said the governor has a right to outline what course he will take on legislation and contended Leader made no attempt to influence any individual vote on the bill.

The referendum proposal garnered exactly the constitutional majority it needed to clear the 50-member Senate. It now goes to the House where observers predict it faces an even tougher road than its journey through the other chamber.

In the only other Senate action, the chamber approved by a 42-6 vote legislation specifically exempting coal from the state sales tax. Although the tax had not been imposed on the fuel, a question had been raised that the wording of the law could permit imposition of the levy on coal. The bill also amends the sales tax law to make minor changes in collection and enforcement procedures.

Transit Tieup Threats Eased in Pittsburgh Area

PITTSBURGH (UP)—The threat of transit tieups in the Pittsburgh district eased today with workers' acceptance of contract offers in two cases and a contract extension in a third.

Yellow Cab Company drivers in Pittsburgh voted, 852-68, Tuesday night to accept a two-year agreement providing for company-paid pensions. The 1,100 workers had threatened to strike May 6.

Earlier Tuesday, drivers for the Penn Transit Co. in the McKeesport area, ended a seven-hour strike and returned to work with a two-year agreement granting them an immediate wage increase of 10 cents an hour with another 7 cents next year. The contract also provided for three weeks vacation for 10-year men and four weeks for 20-year men. The drivers on the firm's New Kensington division did not strike.

Tuesday night, federal and state mediators affected a 10-day contract extension in the case of the Harmony Short Lines, which serves communitis north of Pittsburgh to Meadville and up the Allegheny Valley. The company's 250 drivers had been prepared to strike at midnight to enforce demands for a five-day work week and substantial wage increase.

The Yellow Cab contract provides for $40 per month pensions, exclusive of social security benefits, at age 65 after 25 years of service.

Mrs. Anna Jurnak, chairman of the food collection committee, reported yesterday that more food than ever has been contributed for Friday's party. Employes of the Peoples Natural Gas Co. and the Authority of the Borough of Charleroi will pick up the foodstuffs on Friday at noon.

Mrs. John Stieska, chairman of the food preparation committee, said that plans have been made to receive the food and serve it to the students during the party.

Big Steel Boss Predicts 1957 Will Be Good Year

Record Earnings, Sales Reported In First Quarter

NEW YORK (UP)—The top officer of United States Steel Corp. says there may be "some dampening of enthusiasm" in the economy the next six months, but it won't discourage the steel industry a bit.

Board chairman Roger M. Blough predicted 1957 will be a good year for steel with production at 115 million tons, about the same as last year.

Blough reported U.S. Steel set a new earnings record in the first quarter of 1957 and sales were the highest for any first quarter.

Over $2 A Share

Net income of the world's biggest steel producer totaled $115,478,109 or $2.03 a share of common, compared with $104,160,945 or $1.83 a share in the first quarter of 1956.

Sales were $1,166,484,088, compared with $1,100,543,080 in the corresponding 1956 quarter.

Blough said he did not know whether steel prices would be raised this summer when the industry has to give workers a 6 per cent pay increase under the three-year, no-strike contract with the United Steelworkers. He said the question is "continually under review."

He said inflation still will be the main problem confronting the nation, but the steel industry is "not a bit discouraged for the long pull."

Blough said U.S. Steel's production in the second quarter "will average about 90 per cent of capacity, and that's about what we expected."

Late Year Decline Seen

The industry, he said, operated at about 95 per cent in the first quarter and should average between 88 and 90 per cent in the second quarter. He said operations in the third and fourth quarters will be lower and "my impression is that the fourth quarter will be slightly higher than the third quarter."

Directors declared a 75-cent dividend on common stock, unchanged from the previous quarter, but up 10 cents from a year ago. It is payable June 10 to stockholders of record May 10.

The regular quarterly dividend of $1.75 a share was declared on the preferred stock, payable May 20 to holders of record May 7.

By PETER T. EARLE

NEW YORK (UP) — A molten, fiery giant was born in a cast iron converter 100 years ago today.

In only a century, the tiny industrial infant has matured into a modern world.

The delivering physicians, Sir Henry Bessemer and William Kelly had no idea their brain child would someday give nations much of their strength to carry on war or to build for peace.

The smoldering child was christened "steel" and today and for the next eight months steel makers across the land will celebrate the centennial of the Kelly-Bessemer converter that first made possible its mass production.

Centennial Exhibits

As the first in a series of centennial exhibits planned by steel companies across the nation, a big platform bearing color transparencies and illuminated graphs depicting steel's history began revolving in the main rotunda of New York's Pennsylvania Station this morning.

Benjamin F. Fairless, president of the American Iron & Steel Institute, in opening the centennial exposition today said the industry produced its three billionth ton in 1956.

The mounted exhibit shows how the original mass-production process of blowing air through molten iron to obtain great heat thus clearing the iron of its impurities, unlocked the doors of the machine age.

"The steel industry in 1957 looks confidently to the future with an annual steel making capacity of 133,500,000 net tons—about 40 per cent of the world's total," Fairless, former chairman of United States Steel Corp. declared.

Compares Production Figures

His estimated production figures for this year compare with 3,000 tons made by the Kelly-Bessemer process in 1867, 42,000 tons in 1870 and three million tons in 1888—the year that Kelly died.

In 1906, production of Bessemer steel hit its peak of 13,700,000 tons. Ten years later it was outproduced by the new open hearth process, which now accounts for 89 per cent of America's capacity, against three per cent for the Bessemer method.

It wasn't until 1948 that the third and newest electric furnace method turned out more steel than the Bessemer converters.

Fairless said steel is in the midst of a great peacetime expansion and is "planning to add 15 million tons of new capacity between 1956 and the end of 1958."

"It has an investment of over 12 billion dollars in equipment and plants where more than 675,000 men and women are employed. Annual sales have reached the 14 billion dollar mark," the former head of the world's largest steel company concluded.

Asks Rotarians to Help Economize In Government

Monessen Rotarians were urged yesterday to enroll in the "grass roots" movement for greater economy in the federal government.

Speaker at the noon meeting of the club in Johnson's was Leo Guttman of the Guttman Oil company in Charleroi. Guttman serves as a member of the Citizens' Committee for the Hoover Report and has been instrumental in the formation of government study groups in this locality.

The federal government has saved billions of dollars, Guttman said, as a result of the adoption of measures recommended by a commission headed by former President Herbert Hoover. Approximately two-thirds of the recommendations have not yet been put into effect.

It is this area, according to Guttman, in which local groups and individuals can be helpful if they will study the recommendations and urge their representatives to act upon them.

Visitors at the meeting were J. L. Buchanon, Bob Hagar, M. Thompson, Remus C. Johnson, Charleroi; William G. Sharp, Tom Ashcom, New Wilmington; N. E. Whitacre, McKeesport; Saul H. Markey, Donora; Shelby Ferguson, Dr. Francis Smith and the Rev. S. George Clarke, Belle Vernon.

State Would Provide Pay For Wrongfully Imprisoned

HARRISBURG (UP) — State Attorney General Thomas D. McBride disclosed today the Justice Department was drafting legislation to provide for payment of "moral" claims filed against the Commonwealth by persons wrongfully imprisoned.

"If a fair bill can be worked out which would be applicable to all such cases, I would be in favor of the legislation," McBride said.

Deputy Attorney General Frank P. Lawley Jr. began work on the legislation recently. It is slated for introduction in the next session of the General Assembly.

Lawley said laws to compensate wrongfully imprisoned persons were currently in effect in five states and on the federal books.

"There is no way we can return to the person the time he lost in prison," Lawley said today. "The least we can do is to give him some money but there is no provision at all for such action in Pennsylvania."

Lawley said the federal limit on financial restitution was a flat $5,000 while in other states the amount was subject to the approval of the respective legislature.

"In New York one man was paid $115,000 by the state," he said. "What we want to do is strike a happy medium between the flat federal limit and the variable ceilings in force in other states.

Matter for Courts

"Our idea is to authorize payments of moral claims. The legislation under consideration would put the matter in the hands of the courts and they would determine how much the person was entitled to."

Legal innocence alone would not entitle a person to file a claim for compensation, Lawley explained that a man might serve a short term and then be freed because of a legal technicality demanded a re-trial of the charges.

"Sometimes local authorities decline to institute new trial proceedings because they may feel the man was sufficiently punished by the first term," he said. "The man would be legally innocent but the state would not consider he had a moral claim for compensation."

Bills to appropriate various sums of money to compensate persons wrongfully imprisoned have been introduced in the Legislature from time to time but none were approved. Proposals now before the General Assembly would authorize payments to William S. (Willie) Green, 45, of Philadelphia.

Green was recently pardoned and released from Eastern State Penitentiary after serving 10 years of a life term for a 1947 murder in Philadelphia. Gov. George M. Leader said evidence was found which tended "not only to cast doubt on his (Green's) guilt but even to establish his actual innocence of the crime."

District Youth in Sentence for Life

FRANKFURT, Germany (UP)—Two American soldiers began life prison sentences today for the bludgeon slaying of a German salesman.

Pvt. Robert W. Neeley, 19, of Washington, Pa., and Pvt. Fred A. The sentence is subject to review by higher military authorities.

Friend of McDonald Before Senate Probers

NEW YORK (UP)—A New York industrialist who has intimate friendships with top labor leaders and boasts of "pull" at the White House, is being investigated by the Senate Rackets Committee, the New York Times said today.

The target of the inquiry is Philip Weiss, head of a New York oil products company who now is free in $25,000 bond pending appeal from a five-year jail sentence on charges of conspiracy to steal auto parts, the Times reported in a story by A. H. Raskin.

The committee plans to look into Weiss' association with David J. McDonald, president of the United Steelworkers of America; James R. Hoffa, vice president of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, and Charles Johnson Jr., member of the general executive board of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners, the Times said.

USW international headquarters at Pittsburgh reported McDonald was "out of town" and unavailable for comment.

Raskin said Johnson admitted Tuesday that he had received commissions of $6,000 to $11,000 a year from the Weiss company for introducing Weiss to building contractors in various parts of the country.

Hoffa denied a report that he had sought to have the Teamsters union put Weiss products on a "recommended" list for purchases by union truck drivers, the Times said. "I wouldn't sell a gallon of oil or gas for Phil Weiss or anyone else," the Times quoted Hoffa as saying in a telephone interview.

The Times said Weiss has been a "frequent companion" of McDonald both before and after Weiss was convicted in Detroit

Bridge Girders For Saltsburg Enroute to Site

SALTSBURG, Pa. (UP)—Girders for a temporary bridge over Loyalhanna Creek, replacing the 57-year-old span which collapsed last week, were enroute to the site today. An emergency construction job was expected to restore traffic on Route 981 within a week to 10 days.

Leon Porch, chairman of the Saltsburg bridge committee, said the Latrobe Construction Co. is set to start construction as soon as the bridge materials arrive.

Collapse of the 150-foot bridge has forced motorists to make a 17-mile detour to reach US 22 and 30 from Saltsburg. Plans for the temporary structure and for a permanent replacement were mapped Tuesday at a meeting of representatives of the state Highways Department, the bridge committee, and the Saltsburg Board of Trade.

Porch said the Highways Department promised completion of preliminary work on the new permanent span within three months and completion of the structure this year.

Recently improved, the store is regarded as one of the district's most beautiful furniture showplaces.

Check's will celebrate its anniversary with a month-long sale throughout May.

PRR Official Outlines 'Piggy-back' Needs

PHILADELPHIA (UP) — The Pennsylvania Railroad's "piggy-back" service is still in the experimental stage and a coordinated rail and highway system must be provided if the nation is to get proper service, an official of the railroad said Tuesday.

A. M. Schofield, superintendent of the road's "piggy-back" services, told visitors at the National Materials Handling Exposition it was essential that both rails and motor carriers work together for coordinated rail-motor travel so it may be done "within the framework of free enterprise."

He said the PRR was transporting 7,500 truck-trailers per month with gross revenue in excess of 12 million dollars and that 1,700 trailers were owned by railroads and 5,800 by common carrier trucks.

He pointed out that the Pennsylvania does not piggy-back private or contract carrier trucks.

He added that although the piggy-back technique has recorded some outstanding achievements to date it still was in the experimental stage.

Three businessmen predicted that warehouses are losing their position as an important factor in production and shipping.

Malcolm J. Odell, director of research, Ludlow Papers Inc., Needham Heights, Mass., said "I do not believe the warehouse will ever become extinct, but there is no question but that it will be less and less used, so long as we live in a mass production economy."

"The present day trend in handling and protection of merchandise is in the direction of the obsolescence of the warehouse," he declared.

R. L. Franing, materials handling engineer, International Harvester Corp., East Moline, Ill., said there is "no limit to what can be stored outdoors providing enough money is spent for protective material."

"Reductions in storage costs by developing outdoors storage methods can be a factor in reducing manufacturing costs," he said.

E. L. Grueling, materials handling director for the Buick Motor Division, General Motors Corp., said rigid packing requirements were reducing manufacturing and storage costs.

Industry's Campaign Against Taxes

IT HAS COME to be quite the thing now among the leaders of big industry to play the states off against each other in the matter of taxes.

This has been going on in Pennsylvania for several years. Using the State Chamber of Commerce, the Manufacturers' Association and the Pennsylvania Economy League as sounding boards — or just their own eloquent voices — some industrial leaders have been complaining that Pennsylvania's tax policies, as compared with those of neighboring states, discriminate against corporations.

They use all sorts of figures to show that a proposed new plant, which ought to be located in Pennsylvania for other reasons, has to be built in some other state for tax reasons. And to do them justice, the industrialists make a generally convincing case.

Now the same thing is being done in Michigan. Resisting a proposed new tax on corporate profits the president of General Motors says Michigan is no longer the attractive place for the automobile industry that it once was. He says GM has built 13 new plants in Ohio since World War II, largely because of more favorable tax policies in that state.

The GM stand is supported by Avery C. Adams, former president of our own Pittsburgh Steel Co. and now president of Jones & Laughlin. Mr. Adams says J&L has about decided to put a proposed new plant in Ohio instead of at Monroe, Mich., as originally planned.

* * *

NO DOUBT these observations all have a surface accuracy. And in most cases they probably are inspired by the best of intentions.

But one of the objectives seems to be to put the heat on state legislatures by creating a public attitude which insists that, whatever else is done in the field of taxes, industry must be spared lest the goose be killed that lays the golden eggs.

We recognize that Pennsylvania's government leaves many things to be desired in the way of economical use of tax funds. And so, perhaps, does Michigan's.

But we find it hard to believe that Ohio has discovered some magic formula by which it can build and maintain schools and highways cheaper than other states can provide these essential facilities. Ohio, no less than Pennsylvania, must care properly for its mentally ill people, and it stands to reason that this cannot be done very much more cheaply there than it is done in Pennsylvania.

Our point is that the cost of all these governmental functions must be paid from taxes. If corporations pay less, then individuals will pay more. Or if less is paid at the state level, then more must be paid at the local level.

* * *

WE RECOGNIZE that it is important to have the tax burden distributed equitably, and Pennsylvania's legislature, as well as Michigan's, should listen carefully to complaints from any quarter that an unbalanced tax structure is operating against the general welfare.

But, by playing off one state against its neighbors in the way they do, the industrial leaders give the impression that all industry is looking for is cheap government. If they don't find it in Pennsylvania, they'll move to Ohio. And after a few years, if Ohio's tax structure is no longer so favorable, they will go to Idaho.

This picture of industry hopping about the country looking for cheap government and forcing states to bid against each other at the expense of necessary governmental services is not a very pretty one. And we think some of the industrialists might consider whether, if their campaign is pursued much further, they are not in danger of encountering an unpleasant public reaction.

Industry must surely realize that one of the reasons that taxes are comparatively high in Pennsylvania is that it is a highly developed industrial state. Its superb highway system, for instance, exists in large part for the benefit of industry. Its schools, which account for more than 60 per cent of the cost of state government, are vitally necessary to industry. And the mass employment industries, particularly steel and coal, create peculiar social problems because of wide fluctuations in operations — problems which the powers of government must be used to meet.

Our purpose here is not to defend Pennsylvania's tax structure as it now stands. We recognize that it has serious flaws, including probably some discrimination against corporations. We hope the legislature does something about it.

But industry can make a better contribution to this legislative process than to be continually voicing these threats to move elsewhere. To us they seem to smack just a little too much of blackmail.

WASHINGTON — It's being hushed up, but CIA Director Allen Dulles has warned that the Russians have launched a big propaganda campaign to convince Panama to follow Egypt's Suez lead and seize the Panama Canal.

Mr. Pearson

Allen, able younger brother of the Secretary of State, believes this may produce a big crisis right in our own side-yard.

Unlike the Suez Canal, the Panama Canal runs through territory the United States Government bought and paid for many years ago. But this doesn't faze the Russians. They are telling the Panamanians they have a right to revoke the sale, and could then get rich on canal tolls.

Chiang Kai-shek Protests

Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek has sent a frantic message to President Eisenhower, pleading that he not allow American reporters to visit Red China.

The cable followed on the heels of Dulles's revelation that he is ready to lift the travel ban which has been keeping newsmen away.

Chiang warned that visits by reporters would be disastrous to his prestige in the Far East.

Chances are the White House will ignore his protests.

Nasser Plot Reversed

It will never be admitted, but a British plot to kill Dictator Nasser has been quietly reversed. British operatives in Egypt are now under orders, ironically, to keep Nasser alive at all costs.

Reason is that the British now believe Nasser's likely successor would be more dangerous than the wily dictator himself. Nasser has surrounded himself with so many Communist sympathizers that the Reds would probably take over Egypt completely in case of his demise.

U. S. agents were aware of the original British assassination plot — which may seem like a drastic solution to the Egyptian problem, but it's the way politics are played in the intrigue-ridden Middle East. U. S. agents also report that the British changed signals after concluding the assassination strategy would boomerang.

They figured the Reds would make a martyr of Nasser, using his death to stir up Arab emotions and take over the government. Nasser's probable successor would be Lt. Col. Zakaria Moni El-dim, now Minister of Interior, who controls the secret police. Absolutely ruthless, he is considered a Moscow stooge.

Next most powerful person in the Egyptian government is Minister of Education Kamel Ad-din Husein, another follower of the Moscow line, who also commands the so-called "National Liberation Army." As an example of his brand of "education," he recently called on Egyptian students to hate the Western "enemy."

"Smash him, kill him, exterminate him!" cried Husein. "Every combatant every youth, every old man must remember that the first factor for destroying our enemy is to hate him, to hold him in contempt, and to fill our hearts with rage and hatred against him."

It is significant that the Communist technique for infiltrating a country is to gain control first, of the secret police, then the educational system.

Ike's Ex-aide

The backstage story that has been intriguing Washington society for weeks now seems on the way to settlement. It's the alimony dispute between Ike's former naval aide, Capt. Harry Butcher, and his former wife, which was scheduled to involve Mrs. Eisenhower as a witness.

Captain Butcher, a popular figure around Washington for many years, where he was the first representative of CBS, served as wartime naval aide to the now President of the United States. While their husbands were abroad, Mrs. Eisenhower and Mrs. Butcher shared the same apartment at the Wardman Park Hotel.

After the war, Butcher wrote the best-selling book, "My Three Years with Eisenhower." And having long been separated from his wife, divorced her in the spring of 1946, married Mary Margaret Ford May 7, 1946, and went to live in Santa Barbara, Calif., where he now owns and operates radio-TV station KEYT.

By a property settlement made March 20 1946 Harry was to pay his first wife $1,500 a month for life or until remarriage. She now claims in a suit for alimony filed in the U. S. District Court in the District of Columbia that this was reduced by verbal agreement in September 1951 to $750 a month on condition that payments be made regularly on the first of the month.

However, Mrs. Butcher now alleges that payments lagged behind. She asks that the old agreement be reinstated, and claims back payments of $11,850 — $1,050 for 1952 and $7,800 for 1953-56, during which time $600 a month was paid.

The Senate Piles up Trouble

By ROSCOE DRUMMOND

Sen. Lyndon Johnson, D., of Texas, says that Congress is working very hard, and Sen. Clifford Case, R., of New Jersey, adds "is accomplishing very little."

They are both right. They are talking about different things. Democratic Senator Johnson is talking about the number of bills which have been acted upon and Republican Senator Case is talking about the important bills which haven't been acted upon.

Mr. Drummond

Senator Johnson puts his estimate of the first half of the present session this way: "We have worked more hours and passed more legislation early in the session than any recent first session. I don't say this is necessarily a good test of the work of Congress, but it is one test and at least it proves we've been doing something."

Senator Case holds that this is a very inadequate test indeed and contends that the Senate is piling up grievous trouble for itself by failing to bring important legislation to the floor by now.

"This year," he says, as Congress ends its Easter recess, "three of the most important bills sought by the President have not yet been before the Senate for action. If we are to avoid last-minute legislating and the threat of filibustering, we must bring these bills to the floor for debate in the near future."

Case Pro-Eisenhower

Senator Case is speaking as a strong pro-Eisenhower "Modern Republican" and his concept of a "Modern Republican" is one who is intent upon carrying out his party's modern commitments, that is, the 1956 national platform.

The bills which he pleads with the Congress to get moving on are the civil rights legislation, federal aid to help build public schools, and the platform-promised amendments to the immigration and refugee statutes.

The purpose of this column is not to argue what bills Congress ought to pass but to raise the very serious question of whether Congress and particularly the Senate cannot begin soon to order its affairs to provide the time to deal deliberately but expeditiously with major measures instead of leaving them, year after year, to come up in the last hectic, filibuster-imperiled weeks of the session.

Senator Case is quite right in warning that it is happening all over again this spring and that the outlook is for more last-minute haste and breathlessness during which, in the end, length of speech begins to erode the democratic process of majority rule.

Lag on Civil Rights

Senator Johnson and Republican leader Sen. William Knowland have both said that they hoped so to expedite action on the civil rights program that the Senate would not have to debate it during the closing days of the session.

The expediting is not yet visible. The bills linger in committee and it is evident that the reason they linger there is so that they will have to be debated during the closing days of the session.

Both the Democratic and the Republican platforms advocate federal aid to help make up the deficit in public school classrooms, but as yet the Senate Labor and Public Welfare Committee has not held a single hearing on the bill and no hearings a scheduled.

The immigration and refugee amendments, which both parties avow they support, are in the same limbo.

Debate Needed

I am not arguing whether these measures should or should not be passed by Congress. I am simply suggesting that Congress owes it to itself and to the country to make sure that they are acted upon and that to that end they are brought to the floor of the Senate under circumstances which permit them to be debated at length but not debated to death.

If they are to pass, let them not pass in haste.

If they are to die, let them not be put to death by oratory but by votes.

I do not urge any easy or lighthearted curtailment of unlimited debate. I urge the most wholesome respect for minority views and minority respect for ultimate majority rule.

The Senate can serve both of these ends if its leaders apply themselves to finding ways not to leave important bills to the last minute as they now seem to be doing.

Claims Valley Mills Make Excess Noise

To the Editor:

We are in the process of having considerable improvements made in and about the city, such as better parking facilities, roads, etc., which will be quite beneficial to a considerable portion of our local populace.

I feel, however, that the initiation of a program to eliminate, or at least reduce to a reasonable level, the considerable amount of noise generated in the Monessen and Donora mills would be of benefit to all.

The most objectionable noises, in my estimation, are the incessant hum of machinery from the Donora mill, which can be heard over a distance of several miles, and the constant blast of escaping steam from the Monessen mill.

An individual is subject to arrest and fine for utilizing a "Hollywood" type muffler on his automobile or creating a comparably insignificant amount of noise, yet the mills continue to create all sorts of "racket" without interference, which doesn't seem overly democratic to me.

We all like to see the mills running full tilt, since this means prosperity, but must we hear them?

I would appreciate knowing how others feel on this matter.

Behind The News—

Macmillan Gaining Political Ground

By CHARLES M. McCANN

It looks as if British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan is going to be around for quite a while.

Macmillan took office on Jan. 10, in succession to Sir Anthony Eden, at a critical time.

Mr. McCann

Britain was still feeling the effect of the serious breach in relations with the United States which resulted from the Anglo-French invasion of the Suez Canal Zone.

On Feb. 14, his Conservative Party lost a seat in the House of Commons to the Labor Party in a by-election. It was the first such loss in 12 years.

In succeeding by-elections, Conservatives held their seats only by drastically reduced majorities.

The Laborites clamored with increasing insistence for a general parliamentary election, certain that they would win it.

Resignation Threatens Split

On March 28 the Marquess of Salisbury, one of the most influential men in the Conservative Party, abruptly resigned from the cabinet in protest against Macmillan's release from internment of Archbishop Makarios, leader of the Greek-Cypriote fight for union with Greece. A party split seemed to be threatened.

At that time, independent and some Conservative elements shared the Labor view that the Laborites would win a general election.

Now, a little less than one month later, Macmillan is in an increasingly strong position.

Lord Salisbury's resignation proved to be but a brief sensation. Macmillan has held the party together. And today he is being hailed as an outstanding success in his job.

The Laborites have stopped demanding an election—for the very good reason that the experts now predict Macmillan would win.

This surprising turn has come about partly because of the restoration of relations with the United States, partly because Macmillan has started boldly to put Britain on a new course.

Notably, in recognition of Britain's reduced position in world affairs, he has radically altered defense policy by slashing spending, reducing military commitments all over the world, and putting reliance in nuclear weapons strategy.

Influential Personality

But above all, Macmillan has consolidated his position because of his own personality. British politicians emphasize his self-reliance. They also emphasize his gift for running the government smoothly and for reducing his worries by delegating broad authority to his colleagues.

In Commons, Macmillan has maneuvered the Laborites into positions which threaten to cause a new split between its right and left-wings.

At the moment, Macmillan has a majority of 62 seats over Labor in Commons. He can count on seven additional votes on most issues.

He is recognized as a much stronger figure politically than Eden, for years Sir Winston Churchill's political heir, ever was.

It is somewhat surprising that Macmillan, now 63, is half American, as was Winston Churchill. His mother was the former Helen Belles of Spencer, Ind. But also like Churchill, his outlook is completely British.

French Cooking Secret: 'Never Wash the Pan'

By DOC QUIGG

PARIS (UP)—I flipped at the Cordon Bleu. In a chef's high-fluffed cap (la toque), white apron (tablier), and vest (veste de chef), I stepped up to the smoking-hot crepes suzette pan and dolloped in enough batter for a kingsize pancake.

The gallery, where during the last 60 years men destined to become some of the greatest chefs of France have sat as students, was something less than breathless. Matter of fact, it wasn't even looking, for I was only an American reporter getting a token lesson from the boss pastry chef at the famous cooking school.

"Take it easy," said Claude Thilmont, the professor of pastry, speaking through an interpreter. "Keep your wrist loose. Don't watch the gallery. Keep your eye on the batter. Dip the brush (it looked like an ordinary paint brush) into the melted butter and smear it around the edges of the cake. Wait a little longer. You only turn crepes suzette once. Now—go."

Some Beginner's Luck

I flipped the pan up. It was beginner's luck, really. The flaky pancake rose above the stove, turned lazily onto its back, and plopped into the pan. Chef Thilmont warmed some cognac, poured it onto my finished crepe suzette, slammed on some powdered sugar, and set the whole mess ablaze. When the fire was out, it tasted fine.

"Why, I asked the professor, "Do you flip them? Must you?"

Chef Thilmont, at 76, is an artist of the kitchen. His blue eyes twinkled, his sandy mustache twitched. He brought the pudgy fingers of one hand to a pout and said: "Non, non—you do it only for show, for the gallery. In private, it is too much trouble."

"How do you do it in private?"

"Turn them with a spatula," said the chef.

For about 60 pancakes, he mixed in a quart of milk, a pound of flour, 12 eggs, a pinch of salt, two good tablespoons of cognac, and an undisclosed, but rather heavy, quantity of sugar which he added "at the last minute."

Le Cordon Bleu usually has 30 to 70 students at the demonstration courses. I encountered Yvonne Brand, a home economics teacher at the Kent Senior School in Toronto, Ont., who has just completed the nine-month cooking course, and asked her the real basis of French cooking.

Sauces For Interest

"Work," she said. "They love to work at it and don't mind using a number of sauce pans to prepare one dish. Sauces are what makes their food interesting. We take from 9:30 a.m. to noon to prepare a meal, including the instruction, and we have to eat what we cook.

"They have very different ideas here than in Toronto. Nutrition is stressed at home. The artistic is stressed here. It has to be beautiful. We get about six beautiful recipes a day, and I've got between 600 and 800 recipes."

M. Thilmont pinned a Cordon Blue lapel badge on me. It was only a gesture. Miss Brand said it was for those who pass the first, three-month, certificate—"It means you're able not to spill your food."

As I left M. Thilmont was throwing a chef's fit. He found an omelet sticking a bit and said someone must have washed the pan—with water. "You must never, never wash the pan—never," said Miss Brand.

Junior Clubwomen To Stage Pageant

The Junior Women's Club of Monessen has again been asked to select a Miss Mon Valley to represent this area at the Miss Pennsylvania Pageant in West Chester in June. Mrs. Joseph M. Dudas, Jr., president of the club has appointed Janice Calderone, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, to act as general chairman of the project.

Miss Calderone immediately got her plans underway for the valley pageant, which will be staged in early June, to select the valley representative. Contestants may be residents of Monessen, Charleroi, Donora, Belle Vernon, Rostraver Township, Washington Township, Fayette City, Monongahela, Brownsville and California.

Talent Winner

Last year for the first time the Junior Club sponsored the contest in the valley and chosen as winner was Patricia Ginglardi, of Belle Vernon, who is now Mrs. Kenneth Bell. As "Miss Mon Valley" she traveled to West Chester and brought honors to the valley by copping the outstanding talent award for her rendition of a vocal selection from "Madame Butterfly".

Winner of the Miss Pennsylvania Pageant in addition to a $1,000 scholarship will win the right to represent the state in the Miss America Pageant at Atlantic City on Sept. 2 through 8. Miss America of 1958 will receive a $5,000 scholarship prize and an estimated $75,000 in modeling and personal appearance contracts.

Will Name Chairmen

Miss Calderone plans to name the chairmen of the committees which will assist in staging the Miss Mon Valley Pageant within the next several days. There will be an entries committee, a site committee, ticket, staging, program booklets, publicity, budget and finance and a master of ceremonies for the contest.

The next Miss America might very well be living here in the Mon Valley with her friends never-suspecting that a year from now she'll be pictured on magazine covers, touring foreign capitals and representing young womanhood as "Miss America".

Plans are underway to stage the valley event on June 12.

The ensembles worn by the bridesmaids were made identically to that chosen by Mrs. Skomsky only in yellow. They carried colonial bouquets of white carnations with tinted orchid centers and tied with orchid streamers.

William Skomsky was the best man and serving as ushers were John Baker, Rodney Otto and Bob Nolte.

ON THE BALL

MHS Baseball Defense Not Good!

The defense of the Monessen High baseballers isn't exactly air-tight this season. The Greyhounds have given up 57 runs in six games. In four of their six assignments, the Hounds have permitted 11 or more tallies by the opposition . . . Encouragingly, the Monessen boys are scoring, too. They've averaged about five runs a tussle . . . West Virginia University and Illinois will meet in football at Champaign, Ill., on October 1, 1960. The Mounties have decided to toughen their grid schedues in the future to attract more national attention . . . Lou Kichinko, our sidekick, is already busy mapping his annual trek to the west coast in the fall. He plans to sit in on the Pitt-Southern Cal game, as well as a half dozen other grid attractions at the Colliseum in Los Angeles.

* * *

Ron Minnie, the former Monessen High basketball great, has gone out for track, too, at Westminster College. He's running the high hurdles as well as the broad jump, both new events for him . . . Incidentally another Monessen product, Felton Brown, is going great in the dash events for the Titans. The other day he stepped off the 100 yard dash in 9.8. He's covered the 220 in 22.5. Those aren't bad times for a freshman . . . Speaking of track, the annual Big Six Meet will be held in Brownsville on Friday at 1:30 p. m. Both Donora and the host Brownies will enter undefeated teams.

Pitt Squad Comprised of WPIAL Boys

Only six members of Pitt's 58 man football squad are from out of the state. And practically all of the Panthers are WPIAL products, pretty good evidence that coach John Michelosen believes in doing his recruiting right at home . . . With record turnouts already recorded at Heidelberg and Washington, the Pittsburgh Racing Association is looking forward to one of its biggest seasons. Stock car racing has really come of age and interest in the sport is growing by leaps and bounds . . . The McKeesport Daily News Baseball League, organized back in 1929, opened its 1957 season yesterday with eight teams going after the pennant. One of the entries — Munhall — plans to experiment with some night games.

* * *

Latrobe High basketball coach Ralph Forquer raised some eyebrows the other day when he conceded "we have the nucleus for a winner." . . . Just for the record, Forquer will have 11 experienced boys returning . . . Mike Young, the city's fine young baseballer, has an older brother Joe who is studying medicine way down in Mexico City . . . Officials at the Nemacolin Country Club report a tremendous rush for membership now that the proposed swimming pool is soon to become a reality . . . New Eagle's entry in the Mon Valley League has just about decided to play its home games at Victory Hill. Fans in that community have offered to help ready the diamond for the NE sandlotters.

Big Six Track Meet This Friday

Just a year ago today, the Monessen High track team won five first places in the annual Big Six track meet — more than any other school — yet finished last in the point standings . . . By the way, the Greyhounds don't figure to win an event at this year's meet on Friday, but they'll probably escape the cellar, too . . . The Monongahela High tennis team is being coached this season by Fred Fleming, former all-around athlete at both Charleroi and California Teachers . . . A reader asks: "Is is true that you reported a district school to Junior WPIAL authorities for reportedly violating PIAA rules?" The answer, of course, is NO even though that seems to be the rumor. Authorities tell us the request for a ruling came for the school, itself. As yet no decision has been reached.

Spahn Credits Hitting For Early-Season Wins

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK (UP) — Southpaw Warren Spahn thanked his own Milwaukee Brave hitters today for putting him three weeks ahead of his 20-game schedule of last season.

It wasn't until May 17 that he scored his third win last year and as late as June 14 he had a 4-6 mark after dropping five games in a row. But the veteran's start has been sensational this time around as he won and went the distance in all three starts to date.

"The difference is that our hitters are coming through," the thin man analyzes, and the figures bear him out. During that five-game losing streak last spring, the Braves averaged only two runs a game for Spahn. In this year's three wins, they have averaged five runs per game.

Team More Aggressive

Some observers contend the Braves lacked fire and drive to crash through when they had to win a big one. But they seem to have taken on a new aggressiveness since Jackie Robinson's off-season charge that night-clubbing by several key men cost them the flag.

Spahn at 36 says that he is "as good a shape as ever" and feels that he is as good a pitcher as he ever was."

"A few years ago they were saying that I had lost my fast ball," he grins. "Well, I won't say I'm as fast as ever but the trouble was with my knees. I underwent operations on both of them and, not being forced to favor my legs any more, I feel that I'm pretty well set."

Dodgers His Nemesis

A 20-game winner in seven of his 12 years as a Brave, the loose left-hander has had his greatest difficulties against the Brooklyn Dodgers. His lifetime mark is 13 wins over them against 24 defeats.

"I can't understand it," he shrugs. "If I pitch a good game, we don't get any runs. When we get the runs, I pitch a terrible game."

Spahn, a rubber-armed pitcher with pin-point control, has however, been rough this season on another of the top challengers the Braves must beat to win the pennant. Two of his three opening victories have been over the muscular Cincinnati Reds, one of the Braves' top rivals, with the other coming opening day as he hurled a four-hitter against the Cubs.

The ageless veteran may be in for one of his finest seasons. To his own that is.

BUSY DAYS AHEAD FOR MHS ATHLETES

Requests Hike in Fish Fee

HARRISBURG (UP)—The executive director of the state Fish Commission told the House Fisheries Committee Tuesday that a reduction in commission services would be necessary unless "substantial new funds" become available.

The committee, headed by Rep. Clarence G. Stoner (R-Cumberland), is studying legislation to increase fishing licenses from $2.50 to $4. Revenue from the sale of the licenses is the chief support of the Fish Commission, which receives no appropriations from the state's General Fund.

William Voigt, the commission's executive director, told the committee the costs of goods and services required by the commission "have risen sharply and are continuing to rise" and that unless additional money is provided "there is no alternative except a reduction in (commission) activities."

Following the committee meeting, House legislation was introduced to issue a $3 general fishing license and a special $1 trout stamp. The bill was viewed as an indication of chamber sentiment that trout fishermen should carry the major share of any license increase because most fish fund expenditures were for improvements of trout fishing.

Surprised at Move

Stoner expressed surprise at the legislation, saying his committee talked of similar legislation but carrying a 50 cent trout stamp.

The bill was sponsored by Reps. Raymond E. Wilt (R-Allegheny), Lee A. Donaldson Jr. (R-Allegheny) and Jules Filo (D-Allegheny). None are members of the 20-member fisheries committee.

Among the cutbacks indicated by Voigt included:

—The propagation and distribution of fish in state fishing waters.

—Field investigations of streams and lakes, and improvement work indicated.

—Elimination of literature, films and exhibits for educational, sports, and conservation purposes.

Voigt termed "acceptable but insufficient" the plan for institution of a $1 trout stamp.

He said experience in other states where they are required showed that only about 25 per cent of the state's licensed fishermen purchased the stamps. In Pennsylvania, he said, that would produce only $200,000.

Cedar Crest Wins 3rd Round

Only one sweep was authored last night. Mt Mercy blanked Ladycliff.

In other matches, Wellesley won two from Sweetbriar, Wheaton bested Villa Maria twice, Vassar copped two from Bryn Mawr and Monte Cassino earned two from Rosemont.

Standings show Koawl, 35-19; Costella 31-23; Dacko, 27-27; and Kerr, 15-36.

Michelosen Speaks at West Newton Banquet

John Michelosen, football coach at the University of Pittsburgh, last night told athletes at West Newton High School to "shoot for the moon" when setting a goal in life.

Michelosen spoke at the annual all-sport banquet, co-sponsored jointly by the Lions, Kiwanis and Rotary Clubs of West Newton.

"Set your goal high and then strive for it," said the successful Pitt coach. "And remember the key factors to succes in both sports and life are loyalty, determination, intelligence and a sense of humor."

Michelosen was joined on the speakers rostrum by his popular line coach Jack Wiley. In turn, Wiley introduced Pitt gridders Darrel Lewis and Vince Scorsone.

Steelers on Hand

Three members of the Pittsburgh Steelers were on hand for brief remarks: Ted Marchibroad, John Reiger and George Tarasovic.

Other speakers included James Sterner, superintendent of West Newton schools, Lyman Stough, Irwin basketball coach and president of the Westmoreland County Coaches Association; William Dodle, principal at Connellsville and president of the WPIAL; Allen Kline, sports editor of the Monessen Daily Independent and Charles Williams, a retired mill executive from Monessen.

Dick L. Moorhead served as toastmaster. He was introduced by Harry Cadamore, pastor of First Church of God.

The invocation was by Rev. John H. Schneidmiller, pastor of Christ Lutheran Church; and the benediction by Rev. Ronald Webb, of the Baptist Church.

The highlight of the evening was the presentation of jackets to the graduating seniors.

Grid Awards

The football players were presented their awards by coach George Bulazo and his assistant Andy Yartin.

Grady Oatneal was honored as the most valuable lineman and the best blocker. Regis Lyons was singled out as the most valuable back and Robert McCorkle as the most improved player.

Basketball presentations were made by Stewart Townsend and his assistant, Sherman Brizzi. A special award went to Gene Letfor making 79.4 per cent of his field goal attempts this season.

In turn, the football and basketball squad presented gifts to their respecuve coaches.

Provide Entertainment

Entertainment during the evening was offered by a singing trio of West Newton girls known as the Three Specs. They are Delores and Maxine Snyder and Dorothy Beckinger. They were accompanied by Mrs. L. W. Theemler, who also played for the group singing.

These seniors received jackets: Raymond Johnston, Andrew Kasic, Benjamin Lash, Barry McCoy, Eugene Letterio, Edward Morrison, Grady Oatneal, William Kraynek, Regis Lyons, Kalman Rieger and Carl Lander.

Also receiving jackets were senior cheerleaders Cora Sue Moore and Dorothy Lucchini.

Thomas Looks Good At First for Pirates

By JOHN CARROLL

PITTSBURGH (UP) — For an outfielder twice removed, third baseman Frank Thomas is playing a pretty fair game at first for the Pittsburgh Pirates on occasion these days.

"Let's put it this way. I've really been on the move lately," the Pittsburgh-born Thomas said before Tuesday night's game against the St. Louis Cardinals.

"Did you notice the lineup yet? Well, I'm back on third tonight. Since playing those two games against the Dodgers at first last week end, I've been taking stock and found that the only positions I haven't played on this club yet are short, pitch and catch," he went on.

Willing To Try

"And I'd even take a shot at short and pitching if it would help out, but that catching—it's not for me. I think I'd be a little shy behind the bat."

When did Frank first learn he would be called upon to fill in occasionally at first base for the slumping Dale Long?

"Well, it came as a complete surprise to me when the skipper (Manager Bobby Bragan) called me aside before one of our spring exhibition games in Florida and told me to grab a first baseman's mitt," he explained.

"That was the last time I played there until this past Friday night against Brooklyn when Bobby started me at first again. And believe me, I was just as surprised the second time."

However, the surprise switch didn't affect Thomas' hitting. He delivered a single and two-run homer that night to send Johnny Podres down to his first loss of the year. The next day, Frank was back at third, but on Sunday he was a first baseman again and saved Bob Friend's 3-0 shutout over the Dodgers with a brilliant fielding play.

A Sprawling Catch

With Gil Hodges on third, Charlie Neal sent a slow bounder beninnd the pitcher's mound which Pirate shortstop Dick Groat fielded but threw low and wide to first. Thomas made the big stretch — sprawling on his side—to retire the speedy Neal for the final out of the inning.

Thomas, born only a few blocks from Forbes Field, is off to the best start of his major league career. Going into Tuesday night's game, he led all Pirate regulars with a .366 average, had three homers and six runs batted in.

"This may be the year that all the folks kept hoping I would have, and I'll tell you the truth—I'm hoping like made it is true," versatile Frank said.

Dupas Needs Birth Certificate

NEW ORLEANS (UP) —Fourth-ranked lightweight Ralph Dupas today was in the second round of his battle with the Louisiana Boxing Commission to fight whites in Louisiana.

The Boxing Commission informed Dupas by letter Tuesday he must produce a birth certificate before it would sanction any of his fights. The commission's ruling came several weeks after Dupas faced charges that he was a Negro and ineligible to fight whites in Louisiana.

Dupas said he does not have a birth certificate, but is trying to get one.

The campaign will open Sunday with Fayette City appearing at Van Voorhis.

On Monday, the Monessen Ozarks will go to Donora, New Eagle to Charleroi and West Newton to Perryopolis.

Ted Smith Wins On Quick TKO

Ted Smith, a Monessen boy who is now fighting for the Charleroi Hilltop AC, won a first round TKO decision in amateur bouts last night in Greensburg.

Smith dropped Al Dennis, of New Castle, in the first round of their 135 pound match with a sharp left to the body. Referee Ernie Sesto moved in to stop the match at 1:23 in the first.

In a 112 pound bout, George Antonious, of Charleroi, dropped a split decision to Skip Baghanti, Pittsburgh, the 1957 Golden Glove novice champion.

Marble Tourney Underway

Monessen's ninth annual Marble Tournament got underway yesterday at Memorial Civic Center.

Boys from Lincoln, Ben Franklin, Vocational and Washington schools matched shots.

Today, youngsters from Jefferson and Linden will knuckle down to get in on the fun. On Thursday it will be the turn of boys from Holy Name and St. Leonard's.

Here's how yesterday's action turned out:

Lincoln — Claude Garry over Sylvester Bronson, 2 to 1; Lloyd Aldrich over Stanley Hamlin, 2 to 1; Lawrence Wade over Maurice Wade, 2 to 1; Lawrence Wade over Theodore Mason, 2 to 0; and Aldrich over Wade, 2 to 1.

Ben Franklin — Vernon Smith over John Pascarella, 2 to 1; S Smith over Marty Cook, 2-0.

Vocational — Robert McFadden over Harry Instone.

Washington — Gary Bello over Edward Kilpela.

Last year's city champion was Eugene Ninchak, of Holy Name. He is too old to defend his title.

As usual, the tournament is being co-sponsored by the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Department of Recreation and the Daily Independent.

High Stakes at Arden Downs

WASHINGTON, Pa. (UP)—Two of the four stakes races to be run at Arden Downs when harness racing's Grand Circuit moves into Western Pennsylvania Oct. 12 will gross in excess of $10,000 each, sponsor Delvin Miller said today.

Richest race on the 1957 card will be the pacing colt stakes which is expected to attract 10 starters and which will gross $13,000. This will make it the richest harness race in Western Pennsylvania.

The stakes for trotting colts will have an $11,000 purse. Rounding out the card will be two stakes events for fillies, a trotting race with a $9,600 purse and a pacing race that will gross about $6,400.

Miller, top trainer-driver and master at nearby Meadowlands Farm, is promoting the program on a non-profit basis.

Brennimans Win Blooming Crown

Brennimans won the Blooming Mill Millwrights League bowling title last night by knocking off the McVickers in a best-of-five series.

The new champions — who won first half honors during the regular season race — took the first, second and fifth games last night.

Andy Drahobecky, with 176-226, and Bill Mullen, with 167-705, paced the winners. High for the losers were Steve Swansick, 192-844; and Ray Echart, 230-746.

The annual league banquet will be held on June 6th in the Charleroi Elks.

Italian Hall Softballers Drill

The new Italian Hall softball team will begin practice tonight at 6 o'clock in City Park.

Steve Hardoby, manager, has invited all interested candidates to report at that time.

Baseball, Tennis and Track Events Are Scheduled This Week

BULLETIN

The tennis match between Monessen and California, orginally scheduled for tomorrow at City Park, has been rescheduled for this afternoon at 4 p. m.

Monessen High's spring sports teams have some busy days ahead.

Tomorrow the Greyhound baseballers and netters resume action. On Friday, the Monessen thinclads will appear in Brownsville for the annual Big Six meet.

Tomorrow's tennis match will take place at the City Park courts with California supplying the opposition.

Both the Hounds and Trojans are unbeaten, having won their first two assignments with ease. Thus the winner will move into undisputed possession of first place in the Section 4 race.

One other tennis battle in the valley will send Charleroi to Monongahela.

The MHS baseballers, who haven't been quite as successful as the tennis edition, will travel to Monongahela tomorrow. And that shapes up as a hazardous trip.

Cats Seething

Coach John Hayduk's boys have won only one game this season and, that was at the expense of the Monongahelans. Since then the Wildcats have been seething for revenge. The only other team to beat the Monongahela nine this year was Charleroi.

One Section 17 baseball game is scheduled today. Bellmar will travel to California. Tomorrow undefeated Charleroi will appear at Donora.

Friday's Big Six track meet figures to lure a full turnout of valley schools for the first time since the event was revived following the war.

Monongahela and Redstone have both indicated that they will send teams. As a matter of fact, the Redstone squad looks good enough to finish high up in the point standings.

Regulars Back

Other entries will include the "regulars" — Charleroi, Donora, Monessen and Brownsville.

The host Brownies are favored to repeat as valley kings. However they anticipate lots of trouble from Donora. Both the Brownies and Dragons are undefeated in dual and triangular meets so far this season.

The Section 17 baseball standings follow:

Standings

TEAM	W	L	Pct.
Charleroi	5	0	1.000
California	2	2	.500
Monongahela	4	2	.800
Bellmar	3	3	.500

DOCTORING YOUR GOLF

By CARY MIDDLECOFF

Pause at Top

I find that a full-count pause at the top of my backswing helps my game a lot. It keeps me from starting the hit too quick from the top, and it lets me get a clear idea of just where my hands are and what they are doing.

I would not, however, advocate this full pause at the top for all golfers.

But it is necessary to a good golf swing that the action at the top of the swing be smooth and unhurried. Any over-anxiousness to get the downswing underway before the backswing is completed is bound to be bad for the shot. Remember that the club must stop going back before it can start back the other way.

So if a definite, timed pause at the top helps you slow down the action here, use the pause. If you find that the pause disrupts your timing, drop it. But in any event, keep the action at the top of the swing SMOOTH AND SLOW.

Robinson To Gamble on Kayo

Sugar Ray Challenges Fullmer

By JACK CUDDY

CHICAGO (UP) — Sugar Ray Robinson will shoot the works and gamble on a knockout tonight in his age-vs-youth return title fight with middleweight champion Gene Fullmer at Chicago Stadium.

That last - minute disclosure was made today by George Gainford, long-time co-manager, who said, "Ray will cut loose with everything he's got and try for a knockout in six or seven rounds.

"He couldn't beat Fullmer by boxing him over the distance at New York in January; so he'll go all-out to stop him early this time."

Accordingly, the expected 14,000 fans will see 36-year-old Robinson gamble on tagging 25-y e a r - old Fullmer with the first knockout of his career or suffering a kayo loss that will send him into permanent retirement.

On National TV

Promoter Jim Norris predicted a gate of $200,000. An additional $100,000 has been paid for ABC's national telecast and broadcast at 10 p.m. e.d.t. There will be a TV blackout on a 150-mile radius in the Chicago area.

Stocky, muscular Fullmer, a mining welder from West Jordan, Utah, took the 160-pound crown from slender Ray on a unanimous 15-round decision at M a d i s o n Square Garden, Jan. 2.

Tonight's return 15-rounder stimulated the heaviest fight - betting in years. The champion is favored at 2-1, and it's "even money" that Robinson doesn't last the distance. A month ago, Fullmer was a 4-1 choice.

If Ray beats Gene tonight he will be the first man in ring history, in any division, to win the same title four times. Robinson was also welterweight (147-pound) champion before he campaigned for the 160-pound bonnet.

Fullmer's Record

Since copping the title Fullmer has had two non-title bouts with Wilf Greaves and Ernie Durando and suffered a brow cut in each. And he was unimpressive in training. However, the Mormon mauler is a chips-down fighter, not a gymnasium performer. His 40 victories in 43 fights attest his prowess.

Robinson lost but five of his 147 bouts, and he was stopped only once—when he collapsed between rounds from the heat in his attempt to wrest the light heavyweight crown from Joey Maxim in 1952. Because of his rare prowess, most experts have tabbed him "an all-time great."

If tonight's show draws its expected $200,000 gross gate, each fighter should wind up with about $78,000. Each receives 30 per cent of the net gate and TV-radio money. It would be Fullmer's largest purse.

Tonight's fight will be scored by a referee and two judges on a five-point-must system. The winner of a round gets five points and the loser, from one to four. For an "even" rounds, each gets five points.

Minors Seek Pension Plan

NEW YORK (UP) — M i n o r league baseball players already have taken the first steps toward the creation of a pension plan similar to the one now enjoyed by their big league brethren, the United Press learned today.

Players with 10 years service in the minors, from Trple-A classifications all the way down to Class D, would be eligible for pension benefits, according to the plan.

Harry (Duke) Markell, 33-year-old pitcher with Rochester of the International League with 13 years experienced in organized baseball, is serving as spokesman for the minor league players since they have no individual player representatives as the major leaguers do.

Hamia Pounds Out Win Over Bell

MONTREAL (UP) — Smiling Cherif Hamia, a pocket-size Marcel Cerdan, predicted today he will beat Hogan (Kid) Bassey of Nigeria for the featherweight championship following his methodical 10-round decision over unranked Bobby Bell of Youngstown, Ohio.

The fast, sharp p u n c h i n g French - Algerian scored his 33rd victory in 35 fights Tuesday night with a wide margin victory over the crafty Bell.

The fight drew a somewhat disappointing 7,228 paid admissions in what was billed as the revival of boxing in this once lively fight town after a lapse of four years. However, promoter Eddie Quinn offered to put up a $50,000 guarantee or 60 per cent of the gate to stage the Hamis-Bassey fight outdoors this summer.

Neither Philippe Filippi, Hamia's manager, nor Jersey Jones, Bassey's North American representative, have made any commitments. The IBC was reported interested in holding the fight in Syracuse. Paris and Nottingham, England, also hope to get the bout.

Musial, Williams Still Going Strong; Braves Loss to Giants

By MILTON RICHMAN

Stan Musial is murdering the ball at a .476 clip and Ted Williams is right up there at .426, so if there are any questions about either slowing up, please don't ask them within earshot of all those shell-shocked National and American League pitchers.

Musial claims he'll quit only after he collects his 3,000 hit. He got his 2,800th and his 2,801st against the Pirates Tuesday night and his last hit was a 13th inning homer that gave the Cardinals a 6-5 victory.

Williams says he'll hang 'em up when he has enough money but if he continues to blast the ball as he did Tuesday night — with three hits, including a homer in Boston's 3-1 triumph over Kansas City—he might decide to keep going indefinitely.

In other American L e a g u e games, Chicago held on to first place with a 6-1 decision over Baltimore; Cleveland defeated Washington, 5-1, and Detroit nipped New York, 2-1, in 10 innings.

Giants Shutout Braves

The Giants blanked the Braves, 4-0; Brooklyn topped Chicago, 10-9, in 10 innings, and Cincinnati defeated Philadelphia, 6-3.

Musial's game - winning blow came off Pirate relief ace Elroy Face after Pittsburgh had rallied with five runs in the ninth to send the game into extra innings. Wally Moon and Del Ennis also homered for the Cards.

Williams slammed a homer, double and a single off Kansas City loser Ned Garver. Knuckleballer Willard Nixon limited the Athletics to three hits.

Bob Lemon and Ray Narleski combined efforts to produce a two-hit performance in Cleveland's victory over Washington. Lemon gave up both hits before yielding to Narleski in the eighth.

Frank Bolling's 10th inning homer off reliever Bob Grim of the Yanks was the payoff wallop in the Tigers' victory. Duke Maas, owner of a 0-7 record with Detroit last year, checked the Yankees on three hits while registering his second win of the campaign.

Pierce Wins No. 3

A four-run rally in the seventh inning gave s o u t h p a w Billy Pierce of the White Sox his third victory in a game against the Orioles. Ray Moore held the White Sox to three hits until the seventh but they put together their rally with a double, three singles and a walk.

Little Don Zimmer, filling in for sidelined Peewee Reese, collected five hits to help the Dodgers to their victory over the Cubs after Brooklyn had blown a six - run lead. Zimmer's 10th inning homer off Dave Hillman, Chicago's seventh pitcher, broke up the game.

Left - hander Johnny Antonelli of the Giants limited the Braves to seven hits and contributed a two-run homer in gaining his second victory. The loss was only Milwaukee's second in 11 games.

Burly Brooks Lawrence snapped Cincinnati's three-game l o s i n g streak as he scattered nine hits and settled down after a shaky start against the Phillies.

Pitt Gridders Have High Hopes Despite Heavy Graduation Losses

Pitt lost fifteen lettermen including eight starters from last year's team which had a 7-3-1 record and although the Panthers will be strong in certain spots, lack of depth and a big question mark at quarterback will make it virtually impossible to improve the 1956 slate.

The schedule includes t h r e e teams which finished in the top ten in the final 1956 polls. Last year, the Blue and Gold played four of the top ten elevens.

Coach John Michelosen's biggest problems will be finding suitable replacements at end and quarterback although key men were lost at every other position. The former Pitt quarterback, who will be in his third year, also must find a punter and an extra point specialist before the opener on September 1st against Oklahoma.

Ends Joe Walton, an All-American and school record holder for touchdown passes with 14, rugged Bob Rosborough, Dale Brown and Bob Kiesel must be replaced. Tackles Bob Pollock, an All-Eastern selection, and Herman Canil, both regulars for two years, also will be gone. Crack Vince Scorsone is the only player missing from the middle of the line.

Backfield losses included quarterbacks Corny Salvaterra, w h o threw 14 touchdown aerials during his varsity career for a s c h o o l mark, and southpaw Darrell Lewis and fullbacks Ralph Jelica and Tom Jenkins, who did most of the punting. Four outstanding halfbacks will be missing: C o r k y Cost, a regular; Bugs Bagamery, extra point specialist; Ray DiPasquale and Nick Passodelis.

Eleven Lettermen

Returning are eleven lettermen, of whom only four had starting duty last fall. This includes center Charley Brueckman, g u a r d Dan Wisnewski and halfbacks Jim Theodore and Dick Bowen.

A definite change will undoubtedly take place in the Pitt offense this fall. The Panthers will pass more and at the same time, will run more to the outside because both halfbacks are great o p e n field runners.

Although the Pitt attack will be different, the Blue and Gold will still be a well-conditioned, hard-hitting team, both on offense and defense. In Michelosen's two years as head coach, the Panthers have come from behind in ten of their fourteen wins and have been outscored only three times in t h e second half. However, it a l s o should be remembered that t h e Pitts have failed to score in the first quarter in the last thirteen games.

Dick Scherer, a letterman, will be at left end. He is an exceptional pass receiver. On the other side, Art Gob and Jim Z a n o s seem to be the leading candidates for the first string. Joe Pullekines, a converted tackle, might see action after gaining experience. Two transfer students, Ray Carion from Maryland and Ed Stolitza from Waynesburg, were impressive in spring practice. Bob Rathi is the leading sophomore prospect.

Starting Tackles

Jim McCusker and Ron Kissel will be the starting tackles. Outside of these two, it is hard to tell who the replacements will be. Ernie Westwood is the top sophomore candidate. Ed Humeston, a converted guard, could develop. Charles Marranca is another good looking sophomore.

The Panthers are well-fortified at guard. Big John Guzik and Dan Wisniewski, a two year letterman, will make the Panthers tough at this position. Dick Carr and Ed Michaels, who missed most of spring practice because of an arm operation, will be suitable replacements.

Brueckman, who averaged approximately 53 minutes a game last year, will give Pitt one of its best centers in twenty-f i v e years. Tom Salwocki, a letterman, came along fast last year and will be better this season. Serafina Fazio looks good for a sophomore.

Although Bill Kaliden saw little action as a sophomore, he will be the number one quarterback. A fair runner, Kaliden could develop into a topflight passer with a little experience. Jim Lenhart, an excellent passer, will be the number two quarterback while P e t e r Prince and sophomore Ivan Yoncic will also see action.

Letterman Theodore returns at right half while junior Dick Haley, also a veteran, will be at l e f t half. These two backs will give Coach Michelosen two outstanding breakaway runners. John Flara looked very good in spring practice as did Don Nilles. Outstanding prospects for right half are junior Joe Scisly and A n d y Sepsi, a sophomore headed f o r future stardom.

Bowen, a converted halfback, will probably be the number one fullback but will receive tough competition from Bob Stark, Fred Riddle, who missed of s p r i n g practice because of a bad leg, will also see action and might do most of the punting.

Brueckman and McCusker will be the co-captains for the c o m i n g campaign.

School Construction Bill Before House

WASHINGTON (UP) — The House Labor Committee today called up a compromise two-billion dollar school construction program.

The compromise bill — worked out by a subcommittee—is a compromise between President Eisenhower's $1,300,000,000 program and a Democratic $3,600,000,000 program.

Subcommittee Chairman Cleveland M. Bailey predicted the compromise bill would win committee approval.

"We've got the votes," he said.

But the whole concept of federal aid for school construction faced a new formidable foe in the Senate.

Senate GOP Leader William F. Knowland declared Tuesday that he opposed it. He warned that if passed it would become permanent instead of only an emergency program.

Other congressional news:

Ambassadors — The Senate Foreign Relations Committee summoned State Department Security Chief Scott McLeod for a second round of questioning on his controversial nomination as ambassador to Ireland. A committee vote appeared possible by nightfall. The committee already has approved another controversial nomination — Charles E. Bohlen, new ambassador to Russia, as ambassador to the Philippines.

Civil Rights — Rep. Ray J. Madden (D-Ind.) charged some Republicans and Democrats in Congress are "secretly doing a lot of stalling" on the administration's civil rights bill. Madden made the charge as the House Rules Committee met secretly to set dates for hearings on civil rights legislation.

Budget — Chairman Harry F. Byrd of the Senate Finance Committee called for a tightly linked six billion dollar tax cut and an eight billion dollar cut in federal spending. He advocated a long series of tax cuts including a boost in personal exemptions from $600 to $700.

Leaks — Sen. Henry M. Jackson (D-Wash.) charged employes of the Civil Aeronautics Board "leaked" word of a lucrative airline route to insiders and "lied" about it when questioned. Jackson heads a subcommittee that called on GOP National Committeeman Robert F. Snodgrass of Georgia to explain where he got inside information on the award and how he made out on the stock market with it.

McCarthy Gets Blood Offer From Pentagon

WASHINGTON (UP)—An ailing Sen. Joseph McCarthy has received a wonderful thing—an offer of blood from Defense Department employes.

McCarthy, who has taken on the Pentagon in some of his greatest fights, received the offer while battling a serious attack of acute hepatitis.

"Its a wonderful gesture,' the senator's attractive wife Jean said. "It's one of the most wonderful things that ever happened to us."

Mrs. McCarthy told the United Press Tuesday night that the offer of blood came from a Defense Department office Tuesday. She said she did not know which office.

"But of course he doesn't need blood transfusions," she added.

She said her husband was under an oxygen tent for a short period Monday. He was stricken Sunday and has been in the Bethesda, Md., Naval Hospital since then.

A hospital spokesman reported Tuesday that his condition remained serious. But Mrs. McCarthy said that her husband "has improved quite a bit."

Prisoner Faces Death for Attack On Prison Guard

HARRISBURG (UP)—Most citizens of Pennsylvania believe that murder is the only crime punishable by the death sentence in the state

But a prisoner at Western State Penitentiary faces possible execution for one of the few crimes other than murder for which the capital sentence can be imposed According to Hyman Schlesinger of Pittsburgh, the prisoner is James Fleming and his crime—assault on a prison guard.

A bill was introduced in the state Senate Monday to give Fleming the advantage of a court-appointed counsel, a privilege accorded persons charged with murder. The provision for such counsel was not made by the 1953 Legislature which made assault on a prison guard punishable by death

Schlesinger in a letter to Sen Bernard B McGinnis (D-Allegheny) said that Fleming is without funds to hire an attorney McGinnis sponsored the legislation to permit appointment of defense counsel at the county's expense

Disabled Persons Have Until June 30 to Get Social Security Freeze

Disabled veterans who aren't gainfully employed are urged to apply at their Social Security office for a disability freeze, it was announced today by Edwin Melenyzer, service officer of Allison-Lescanac Post 1190, Veterans of Foreign Wars.

If the disabled veteran had at least five years in work covered by Social Security before being incapacitated, he or she should apply for the "freeze" before June 30 Melenyzer said.

Service in World War II or the Korean War counts toward the five years' coverage, Melenyzer added.

Some may lose future Social Security benefits for themselves and their families entirely if they are now eligible for a disability freeze but don't apply before June 30.

Others may suffer reduced future benefits, Melenyzer said.

Not all of those who apply will get a freeze, Melenyzer pointed out, but he believes that all those who fit the above description should apply for a freeze before June 30 as a matter of form.

Protect Benefits

In this way, Melenyzer said, the disabled veteran will protect his benefits, even though some who apply will not meet the full requirements for a freeze upon application.

Social Security insurance is a three-way program. It provides old-age, disability and survivors insurance benefits.

While disability payments are made only to the insured civilian or serviceman between the ages of 50 and 65, benefits are payable to both him and his dependents in his old age or to his family in case of his death.

To protect these benefit rights, he must become insured and remain insured under the law. To become insured, he must have been in civilian work, or in active military service, covered by the law, for a certain amount of time.

The amount of benefits, which may become payable to him and his dependents or his survivors is based on his average earnings beginning with 1937, 1951 or age 22, if that is after 1950.

If an application is made before June 30 this official period can begin on the day he actually became disabled. After June 30, an application will be effective to freeze a person's Social Security record for no more than one year back.

Cooler Than Normal Forecast During May

WASHINGTON (UP) — The Weather Bureau forecasts cooler than normal temperatures over the eastern third of the nation during May, except in states bordering the Gulf of Mexico.

Above normal temperatures were predicted for the western half of the country, except for the far Southwest which will experience below normal mercury readings.

The bureau noted that the May temperature pattern was a "major reversal" from conditions during the last two weeks of April.

Precipitation is expected to be subnormal over most of the country, compared to the generally wet weather of April. However, above normal amounts were forecast for the northeast and far Southwest.

The bureau said rains in central and eastern Texas, which have been abnormally heavy, are expected to taper off to near or subnormal.

Working Mothers' Problem Causes Grave Concern Today

WASHINGTON (UP) — Do working mothers contribute to the financial security of their families and the economic health of the nation? Or do they contribute to the rising rate of juvenile delinquency and the breakdown of the American home?

These questions are causing grave concern to religious leaders, educators, social scientists and government officials, a United Press survey showed today.

Two mothers out of every five who have children under 18 now are holding jobs outside the home. The number of working mothers has increased nearly 50 per cent in the past 10 years, and now stands at a record 6,500,000. Of these, 2,500,000 have children under six years of age.

Individual Judgment Needed

While authorities differ widely in their opinions about the overall impact on American life, all agree that each working mother must be judged as an individual.

Some women, they say, go to work because they crave luxuries which their husbands' paychecks can't provide. Others become wage-earners by necessity. (About one-fifth are widowed and divorced.)

Some flee the hard work and heavy responsibility of full-time homemaking for an easier job in an air-conditioned office. Others are trying sincerely to make the best use of their time and talents while their children are away at school. Some working mothers undoubtedly neglect their children. Others are extremely conscientious parents.

Trend Seen Alarming

Recognizing this wide range of individual differences, some authorities nevertheless consider the national trend as an alarming development.

In a recent nationwide survey of public school teachers by the National Education Assn., 80 per cent listed "lack of parental supervision due to mother working" as a cause of student behavior problems. One-third called it an "important" factor.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover told the United Press "parental neglect" is a major cause of increasing juvenile crime. He said it is likely to occur in three types of homes—those "broken by death or divorce," those in which parents are "too absorbed in their own social pursuits to give essential guidance and affection to their children," and those in which "both parents are working."

Msgr. Irving Deehane, director of the Family Life Bureau of the National Catholic Welfare Conference, said the increase in the number of working mothers is "clearly related" to a deterioration of moral and spiritual values among large numbers of American youth.

"Creating a good home and giving children all of the love, security and guidance they need is a mother's first responsibility," he said. "It is a job that usually requires all of the time and energy she has.

"A mother should have a very grave reason for taking a job—something far more important than buying a new car or television set."

Mental Strain Involved

Dr. Eli Ginzberg, Columbia University professor who directed a recent study of women in the nation's labor force for the national manpower council, said working mothers themselves are exposed to "psychological strains" that may have a serious effect.

"They are likely to be especially uneasy about the impact of their working on the development of their children," he said. The effort to perform adequately in their dual role may cause conscientious women to exceed "their emotional and physical limits."

A strong defense of the working mother came from Mrs. Alice K. Leopold, director of the women's bureau of the U. S. Labor Department who happens to be a working mother.

Mrs. Leopold, who says she brought up two "non-delinquent" sons, said it is "grossly unfair to to make employed women the scapegoats for every social ill of our day."

To Have Money For Fighting Coal Mine Fires

HARRISBURG (UP)—The General Assembly has received legislation to appropriate three million dollars to the state Mines Department for use in fighting fires in abandoned coal mines.

The House bill would use the money for sealing, dewatering and extinguishing fires in the state's coal regions and for flushing mine voids where subsidence danger exists.

A companion bill would enlarge the scope of the Coal Research Board to include methods of mining, preparing and transporting bituminous and anthracite coal. The board also would be directed to study methods of reducing the cost of marketing coal and finding new markets for coal byproducts.

The legislation was sponsored by Reps. Roy W. Parry (R-Luzerne), James B. Post Jr. (R-Luzerne), James Musto (D-Luzerne) and William J. Reidenbach (D-Lackawanna).

Route 40 Project Is Up to U. S. Bureau

Secretary Joseph J. Lawler of the Pennsylvania Department of Highways said last night the decision to make U. S. 40 a federal interstate highway rests with the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads.

The section in question runs 138 miles between Hancock, Md., and Washington, Pa. It roughly parallels to the south the Pennsylvania Turnpike.

"If the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads wants to increase Pennsylvania's mileage to include this highway, then, of course, we will gladly recommend it," he told a newsman. "It's entirely up to the bureau."

He made the statement after conferring during the day with the Fayette County Development Council.

Maryland highway officials are supporting the U. S. 40 move.

Lawler explained there is a reluctance in some quarters to make U. S. 40 an interstate route — and so qualify it for 90 per cent federal aid — because of the Pennsylvania Turnpike.

The entire length of the turnpike has been assigned to the federal interstate system.

"There seems to be some thinking that U. S. 40 should be just an access road because it runs east and west just as the Turnpike does," he said.

"The other side says Turnpike traffic is getting heavier and heavier and that U. S. 40 would be a good way to relieve Turnpike congestion."

Lawler said he advised the delegation to contact U. S. Bureau of Public Roads at Washington to make its views known there.

Atomic Tests From Balloons On the Schedule

WASHINGTON (UP) — The Atomic Energy Commission announced today that at least two of the bigger explosions in this spring's weapons tests will be detonated from captive balloons high over the Nevada desert.

The explosions will yield violence greater than that of 20,000 tons of TNT, the AEC said. The bomb that destroyed Hiroshima in August, 1945, was equivalent to 15,000 tons of TNT.

The Nevada tests start May 15 and will continue through the summer. The AEC said newsmen and about 60 civil defense officials will be permitted to witness nine of the shots. No "uncleared persons" will be permitted to observe the others.

Of the nine "public" explosions six will be under 20,000 tons of TNT in energy yield and three will be above. All of the smaller weapons and one of the larger will be exploded from steel towers.

The two balloon shots announced today will be staged, weather and other conditions permitting, on June 27 and July 25. Weather delays in past test programs have run as long as several weeks.

The other of the three larger explosions will be a tower shot Aug. 19. The other tower shots which newsmen and civil defense workers may witness are scheduled for May 15, June 25, July 9 and 15, Aug. 8, and Sept. 1.

Man Admits Slaying

GARY, Ind. (UP)—A pint-sized steelworker who admitted strangling a beauty operator and burying her in a garbage - strewn grave will be questioned about the similar slaying of a teen-aged girl, police said today.

George Robert Brown, 25, described by police as a "sex maniac," pointed out the roadside grave Tuesday in a lonely, windswept sand dung area only two miles from his home.

The victim, who disappeared nine months ago during a rain storm, was Mrs. Mildred Grigonis, 30. Authorities unearthed the skeleton, clad in a white nylon uniform and white shoes, from beneath the sand and a pile of garbage dumped on her grave by Brown.

Sheriff Jack West said Brown will be questioned later about the murder of Lana Brock, 16, who was buried alive in the sand last August only a half-mile away from Mrs. Grigonis' grave.

Brown, who lives near the scene with his wife and family, has a record as a convicted rapist and a former mental patient, according to police.

They said he readily admitted the Aug. 18 sex and robbery slaying of Mrs. Grigonis and added he returned to the scene frequently and "every now and then I would dump garbage on her body so no one could find her."

Neighbors who saw him dumping garbage always in the same spot became suspicious and when Brown was arrested on a car theft charge three weeks ago, they suggested he be questioned about the beauty shop operator's disappearance.

Brown confessed the slaying Saturday night, police said, but authorities were unable to find the body during a weekend of digging along country roads until Brown consented to accompany them Tuesday.

HOW PLYMOUTH'S BIG ECONOMY WIN AFFECTS YOU!

If you're an average driver, you wouldn't have had a chance in this year's Mobilgas Economy Run. It takes seasoned professionals to win in this kind of competition.

Every car of every make entered in the 1957 Mobilgas Economy Run was a new 1957 stock model. Every car was carefully tuned for the Run and the cars were piloted by real experts in this exacting kind of driving. Naturally, the mileage they got is higher than the figure you can expect.

The way this race—and all previous Mobilgas Economy Runs—was judged is another area that should interest you:

Cars of different weights and engine displacements cannot compete on an equal basis. Such a competition would produce misleading miles-per-gallon figures. If miles-per-gallon were the only consideration, a motor bike could run away with first place. Obviously, other factors must be considered.

In order to give all cars a fair chance, the engineers used ton-miles-per-gallon as their yardstick—and as a basis for the official Mobilgas Economy Run prizes. This establishes a definite relationship between gasoline consumed, distance traveled, and weight carried. It is the only measure of gasoline economy that has any real significance to the engineers—or to you as an average motorist.

Now look at the results of the Run with the above thoughts in mind: Plymouth swept its field—First Place winner in "Class A," the division that included all the well-known low-price cars. As certified by the United States Automobile Club, Plymouth's official ton-miles-per-gallon led the entire "Class A" field.

Bear in mind, too, that Plymouth's winning mark was set using a V-8 engine with TorqueFlite automatic transmission. Several of the losing cars in Plymouth's division used 6-cylinder engines—supposedly more economical. But Plymouth beat every car in sight, 6's and V-8's alike.

But here's what Plymouth's victory does mean to you: The Plymouth you buy at your Plymouth dealer's is the same, engine for engine, part for part, as the Plymouth that won the Mobilgas Economy Run.

The superior engineering that enabled Plymouth to run away with first place is built into every Plymouth. And that means you can expect economy that will save you real money in ordinary driving.

So before you invest a dime in any automobile, it's to your advantage to compare all three low-price cars. Compare them for economy . . . for beauty . . . for riding and handling ease . . . for performance. Then make your decision.

Only Plymouth dares to make so bold a challenge, because only Plymouth, of the low-price 3, has so many three-years-ahead features, yet leads its field in day-in, day-out economy.

Prove it to yourself. Your Plymouth dealer will be glad to give you a guest drive at your convenience.

The most beautiful—and most economical—car in its class: Plymouth

Business Firms Are Growing

By ROBERT G. SHORTAL

NEW YORK (UP) — American big business, riding the crest of the biggest consumer spending spree in history, finished 1956 with a record 41 companies doing an annual business of one billion dollars or more, a United Press survey showed today.

A total of eight firms joined the billionaire sales ranks in 1956, a year that saw the economy reach to unprecedented heights.

The 41 companies rang up aggregate revenues and sales of $96,076,737,103 in 1956, which was equal to more than $560 for each man, woman and child living in the United States.

The previous year these same firms took in $92,708,236,866 while selling everything from pizza pies to atomic reactors.

The key factor behind the growth of the billionaire sales giants last year was the record 266 billion dollars that consumers shelled out for goods and services of all kinds.

Pennsylvania Railroad Joins

The new companies joining the billionaire sales club last year were Douglas Aircraft Co., General Dynamics Corp., Montgomery Ward & Co., Phillips Petroleum, Pennsylvania Railroad Co., Procter & Gamble Co., Continental Can Co. and Boeing Airplane Co.

The list of sales giants mirrored the changes that are taking place in our economy and also the rolling adjustment that marked 1956.

The big three auto manufacturers—General Motors, Ford and Chrysler—all suffered sales declines in 1956 as new-car volume slipped below the record high established in 1955.

The growing emphasis on defense, particularly air power, was reflected in the fact that 1956 was the first year in the nation's history that three aircraft companies boasted membership in the club.

Boeing and Douglas both rejoined the list last year. General Dynamics, a diversified firm making airplanes, atomic submarines and many other products, joined for the first time.

Suffer Sales Declines

Of the 41 companies, the survey showed that six suffered a decline in sales from 1955. A number also reported declines in earnings as a result of the profit-squeeze that developed last year.

General Motors again headed the list, despite the fact its sales slumped from $12,443,277,420 in 1955 to $10,796,442,575 in 1956. It was followed in order by Standard Oil Co. (New Jersey), American Telephone & Telegraph Co., Ford Motor Co., Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co., U S. Steel Corp and General Electric.

Texas leads the United States in petroleum production, California is second and Oklahoma third.

1,600 Servicemen Wed German Girls

WIESBADEN, Germany (UP)—Lt. Gen. William H. Tunner reported Monday that 1,600 American servicemen married German girls last year.

Tunner, commander in chief of U.S. air forces in Europe, spoke at ceremonies opening German-American Friendship Week. He said the marriage statistics offered "convincing evidence" of German-American friendship.

Eli Whitney used wires from a bird cage to make his first cotton gin.

Relief from Storms Expected in Texas

DALLAS (UP)—The Weather Bureau predicted relief today from thunderstorms that have swollen Texas rivers for 12 days, but flood crests still threatened a number of east Texas and Louisiana towns.

Thousands of oil wells were under floodwaters of the Sabine River in Gregg County in east Texas, and 11 families were rushed out of an oil camp Tuesday to avoid the floods.

Victoria, already hit by one flood, prepared for a 29 5 crest on the Guadalupe River which would cause "considerable flooding in the city . . . although the major portions of it would not be affected," according to the Fort Worth Weather Bureau.

At Freeport, police urged persons in 50 homes in the western part of the city to take to higher ground until the floodwaters of the Brazos River pass.

At least seventeen persons have died in the fury of violent weather and tornadoes that hit Texas 13 days ago.

Worms sometimes appear on the ground after a rain because they come up for air.

Blue Cross offers new expanded benefit program more full days of hospital care . . . additional services provided

Including hospitalization for:

- Diagnostic services when patient's condition or nature of procedure requires admission as a bed patient
- Outpatient minor surgery
- Physical rehabilitation
- Mental and nervous disorders

PLUS . . .

- Immediate membership for new-born infants
- Shorter waiting period for maternity benefits
- Maternity care for Non-Group Members

Now, with the biggest change in benefits since its introduction in 1938, Blue Cross in Western Pennsylvania offers its most liberal and flexible community-wide program for protection against the cost of hospital care.

The new Blue Cross Program was developed in co-operation with Member Hospitals and has been approved by the Pennsylvania State Insurance Department. It is designed to meet the needs of patients and to keep pace with advances in modern hospital care.

The new program in no way affects the existing "21-90 Day" Contracts or any other Blue Cross Agreement now in effect. But it is available to present and future Blue Cross Members who qualify and desire the greater protection.

Types of coverage available in semi-private accommodations in Blue Cross Member Hospitals

30 to 70 Full-Benefit Days

For Groups that qualify as "Regular Groups." In general, these are employer-sponsored groups of five or more employees.

Under these Agreements, the number of full-benefit days for an Applicant and his enrolled dependents is determined by his years of continuous membership in this or any other Blue Cross Plan. The number of full-benefit days grows with each year of membership as follows:

YEARS OF MEMBERSHIP	NUMBER OF DAYS
During first year	30
During second year	40
During third year	50
During fourth year	60
During and after fifth year	70

Subscribers under the 30-70 Day Agreement will be entitled to their total allowance of full-benefit days for each hospitalization if at least 90 days have elapsed between the discharge from the hospital and the next admission. This means that it would be possible for a subscriber entitled to 70 days coverage to obtain 185 days of hospital care in a 12-month period.

NOTE: Under this Agreement, subscribers at age 65 and over who are no longer active employees, and each of their enrolled dependents, are eligible for a maximum of 21 full-benefit days of hospital care during each year of coverage.

21 to 33 Full-Benefit Days

For Groups that qualify as "Associated Groups"* and for "Non-Group" Subscribers.*

YEARS OF MEMBERSHIP	NUMBER OF DAYS
During first year	21
During second year	24
During third year	27
During fourth year	30
During and after fifth year	33

Subscribers under the 21-33 Day Agreement will be entitled to their total allowance of full-benefit days for each hospital stay if at least 90 days have elapsed between discharge from the hospital and the next admission. This means that it would be possible for a subscriber entitled to 33 days coverage to obtain 99 full-benefit days in a 12-month period.

NOTE: Under this Agreement, subscribers at age 65 and over, and each of their enrolled dependents, are eligible for a maximum of 21 full-benefit days of hospital care during each year of coverage.

An Associated Group is one that does not meet the "Regular Group" requirements, and may include people enrolled through trade, business or professional associations. Non-Group Subscribers are those who have no opportunity to join through a Group.

Here are the details of the new hospital care benefits provided under the new program

Maternity Care for Non-Group Subscribers. Now, for the first time, maternity benefits are available to Non-Group Members. Maternity benefits will be available after the Family Rate has been in effect for 12 consecutive months. The Non-Group Subscriber pays $5.00 per day to the hospital toward the cost of a maternity admission.

(Maternity benefits are available to Regular Group or Associated Group Subscribers after the Family Rate has been in effect for nine consecutive months.)

New-Born Infant Membership. New-born infants receive immediate coverage and become members of Blue Cross at birth under the terms of the Family Agreement.

Physical Rehabilitation. During inpatient hospitalization in which the principal services are for physical rehabilitation of the subscriber, coverage up to 30 days is provided for an impairment due to the same or related illness or injury during total membership in the Association. This benefit does not apply to conditions that existed on or before the effective date of the Agreement.

Diagnostic Services. Inpatient hospitalization for diagnostic study or medical observation will be covered when the condition of the patient or the procedure used requires the patient's admission as a bed patient.

Mental and Nervous Disorders, Alcoholism and Drug Addiction. During any period of 12 consecutive months, benefits for these conditions are provided for an aggregate of 30 days for Regular Group Members, and for an aggregate of 21 days for Associated Group and Non-Group Members.

Outpatient Surgery. Full Blue Cross benefits are provided for subscribers receiving necessary surgical treatment in the hospital's outpatient department.

Plus these other hospital services as regularly provided by the Member Hospital

Accommodations: You pay nothing for your hospital room in a Member Hospital when you occupy a semi-private room. If you occupy private accommodations, a generous allowance is made toward the hospital's room charge.

Hospital Services without charge: Your Blue Cross Membership covers: Meals • General Nursing Care • Approved Drugs and Medicines • Anesthesia • Use of Operating Room, Delivery, Recovery and other Specialty Service Rooms • Dressings, Plaster Casts and Splints • Laboratory Examinations • X-ray Examinations • Oxygen • Processing and Administration of Blood and Blood Plasma • Physiotherapy and Hydrotherapy • Electrocardiograms • Electroencephalograms • Basal Metabolism Tests • Intravenous Fluids.

CLASSIFICATIONS AND RATES FOR THE NEW AGREEMENTS

MEMBERSHIP CLASSIFICATION	REGULAR GROUPS Monthly Rate for 30-70 Day Agreement	ASSOCIATED GROUPS AND NON-GROUP SUBSCRIBERS Quarterly Rate for 21-33 Day Agreement
Individual	$2.75 (per month)	$ 9.45 (per quarter)

*Maternity benefits are available to Regular Group and Associated Group Subscribers after nine consecutive months' membership at the Family Rate; maternity benefits are available to Non-Group Subscribers after 12 consecutive months' membership at the Family Rate.

EXCLUSIONS

These Agreements do not cover hospitalization for injuries or diseases for which benefits are furnished or required to be furnished by the employer under any national, state, or local laws, (such as Workmen's Compensation) or by any governmental body or agency, with or without charge; convalescence or rest cures; blood or blood plasma; ambulance service; and (for Non-Group Members) conditions that existed on or before the effective date of the Agreement until after a 12-month waiting period.

NOTICE TO PRESENT BLUE CROSS SUBSCRIBERS

If you are enrolled through a Group: Your Group leader will receive material necessary for him to get full information. Group changes to the new program will be made on a Group basis only, since it is not possible for some members to keep their present coverage while others apply for the new benefits.

If you pay directly to Blue Cross: Full information will be sent to you on one of your regular Billing Dates. Because of the number of subscribers in the Direct Pay classification, there may be some unavoidable delay in arranging change of coverage.

However, it will not be necessary for any present Blue Cross Subscriber to mail the inquiry coupon below.

IF YOU ARE NOT A BLUE CROSS SUBSCRIBER . . .

Write to Blue Cross and find out in detail how you can obtain these new expanded benefits. Fill out the coupon and mail it today! This applies only to residents of Western Pennsylvania who are less than 65 years of age.

It will not be necessary for any present Blue Cross Subscriber to mail this inquiry coupon.

Dr. Schweitzer's Jungle Hospital Needs Funds

CHICAGO (UP) — Dr. Albert Schweitzer [illegible] modern lines and the institution would need [illegible] similar to what we have been accustomed to in the United States, Stickley said.

But this was the opinion formed by Joan S. Stickley, president of the Board, on a recent visit with Schweitzer at the hospital in French Equatorial Africa.

Stickley said he was "very much surprised" when he set eyes on the hospital.

"I had thought [illegible] of [illegible] and [illegible] of [illegible] would need [illegible] be modernized [illegible]

Schweitzer contributed his own time to [illegible] the erection of the buildings.

Despite their crudeness, the hospitals [illegible] and the leper colony, of [illegible] Schweitzer is particularly proud, are kept in immaculate condition, Stickley said.

Recovery Rate High

He said he was shocked by the lack of facilities in the operating room, but he was interrupted by a staff doctor that the recovery rate in many modern institutions.

This is due to the fact that Schweitzer and his associates, recognizing the limitations under which they are working, are exceedingly careful, Stickley said.

Staff members told Stickley their chief worry is that Schweitzer, still vigorous in his 80's, will "kill himself with hard work." His day begins soon after dawn and ends at midnight.

SCOTT CROSSFIELD, 35, points to two North American X-15s, one of which he hopes to fly higher and faster, over California, than ever attempted before. The plane, strictly a research aircraft, will carry a heavy payload of scientific and transmitting equipment to record reactions of pilot and plane. Pentagon sources have let it be known the X-15 might reach 4,000 miles an hour and 200,000 feet altitude. Date for the flight has not been announced.

Master Plan for Controlling Air Traffic in the Jet Age

By ROBERT J. SERLING

WASHINGTON (UP)—Engineers today charted a master plan for controlling the huge volume of air traffic in the jet age.

Eventually, the system would enable major airports to handle 1,200 planes an hour safely through electronic controls.

The three-part plan was drafted by an engineering group in President Eisenhower's aviation facilities planning commission. It will become the nucleus for the final report of Edward P. Curtis, commission chairman.

The blueprint outlines immediate steps to strengthen air safety controls, gradual improvements to be made by 1960, and a complete new system by 1975.

The engineering group said the Civil Aeronautics Administration immediately should step up its multi-million dollar program to increase its radar facilitiss and air traffic control personnel over the next six years.

Another recommendation for immediate action called for the formation of a group within the CAA to improve operational procedures to wipe out current traffic bottlenecks.

One-Way Airways

The report also urged that all traffic above 18,000 feet be placed under air traffic control, and that one-way airways be created soon to expand certain highly-traveled routes.

The first of these air "superhighways" would be set up between Washington and New York. Instead of the present three two-way airways, there would be six one-way airways at different altitudes.

The plan calls for eventually bringing 85 per cent of all commercial, military and private air traffic into "controlled air space." Only 12 per cent of today's air traffic is under federal control now.

To accomplish this, the engineering group called for a giant research program to be conducted by the recently-proposed Airways Modernization Board.

The program would cost up to 40 million dollars a year. It would involve the development and testing of new electronic navigation and communications devices, and modernizing airport runways.

These improvements would be incorporated gradually into the CAA's air traffic control system. By 1975—when an estimated 1,200 planes an hour will be flying in the New York City area alone—the system would have become virtually all-electronic.

The air traffic control system of the future would be integrated to serve military, commercial and private air operations. The group recommended that it also feed all its flight information into the Air Defense Command.

As new electronic navigation and communications aids become available, the plan calls for an elaborate system of controlling traffic safely over such busy areas as New York, Los Angeles, Chicago and Washington.

May Build Tunnel Under Erie Harbor

HARRISBURG (UP)—The General Assembly has received legislation to authorize construction of a two-lane tunnel under the Erie harbor to Presque Isle.

The House bill would "authorize and direct" the state Highways Department to build and maintain a tunnel from Erie's East Ave. to a point on the north side of the channel of the Peninsula State Park on the Isle. The legislation did not specify an appropriation for the project.

Clark Attacks Housing Program

WASHINGTON (UP) — Sen. Joseph S. Clark (D-Pa.) said today that government housing programs are giving too much attention to the problems of moneylenders and too little to those of people needing homes.

He attacked the administration's housing policy in a speech prepared for delivery at a lunch of the Washington Housing Association.

Clark said upwards of eight million people need homes, but that the housing industry has asked Congress for help because it is having its worst year since 1949.

"How can such a paradox be?" he asked. "Basically, it's because our government housing programs are no longer oriented toward the needs of the people who need homes. They are being written more and more around the interests of those who finance and build houses for the relatively well-to-do."

He said the administration had asked for more authority to insure private mortgages and to allow government aids for higher priced homes.

"At the same time," he said, "it has struck three blows at lower income families who need help the most.

"It has dried up public housing to a trickle. It has tried to all but kill off the urban renewal program. It opposes proposals for moderate income families who cannot afford present high price suburban housing with the 5 per cent interest rates that the tight money policy has brought about."

To "restore the balance," Clark urged increasing the federal public housing program from 35,000 to 200,000 units a year, launching a "new moderate income housing program" and "a greatly stepped-up program of urban renewal."

3 Memorials

In loving memory of our beloved father, Miller L. Peters, who passed away nine years ago, March 16, 1949 and our beloved mother, Millie Catherine Peters who passed away five years ago today, May 1, 1952.
Quickly and suddenly came the call,
Their sudden death surprised us all.
Dearer to memory than words can tell.
The loss of a mother and father we loved so well.
Sadly missed by Daugaters, Sons and Grandchildren.

Bacteria Are Fighting Back at Antibiotics

By DELOS SMITH

NEW YORK (UP)—Careful testing of a widespread sampling of the streptococcal bacteria has revealed little sign of a catastrophe which many medical scientists fear is coming sooner or later.

The testing showed these sickening even killing bacteria still are highly susceptible to the 11 antibiotics in common use. If and when streptococci and other sickening bacteria lose this susceptibility, the catastrophe will be at hand.

It will put people back where they were before antibiotics were discovered, that is, highly susceptible themselves but inadequately defended to the difficult-to-treat and dangerous bacterial illnesses.

Fight Antibiotic Action

How that could happen is for bacteria to learn to multiply themselves despite antibiotics. Traces of these "resistant" bacteria have appeared but in bacterial tribes other than the streptococci, which show it can happen and gave rise to fears of all bacteria learning how.

Drs. Wilfred F. Jones Jr. and Maxwell Finland of Harvard and Harry A. Feldman of the State University of New York, Syracuse, isolated 394 different strains of streptococci from patients. These they cultivated in laboratory dishes.

To each dish of each strain they added an antibiotic in a tiny amount and kept increasing the amount until bacterial activity was stopped. This they repeated with each strain with each of the 11 antibiotics. In this way they established the range of susceptibility of each strain to each antibiotic.

Ten of the 11 were more or less uniformly effective against all strains. The 11th, bacitracin, was less effective against the Group B. C. and G. streptococci than against those of Group A. The scientists put the 10 generally effective antibiotics in the following order of effectiveness:

Penicillin, erythromycin, carbomycin, oxytetracycline, chlortetracycline, tetracyline, chloramphenicol, streptomycin, neomycin, and polymyxin.

Some Less Susceptible

But of most interest was their comparison of these results with the results of identical tests with strains of streptococci isolated in 1949. This comparison showed that the newer strains of the bacteria were "somewhat less susceptible" than the 1949 strains had been to penicillin, chloratetracycline, chloramphenicol, and bacitracin. The power of streptomycin and polymyxin was not changed. The other antibiotics were not tested in 1949.

In their report to the American Society of Clinical Pathologists, the scientists specifiedt hat the slightly lessened power of five anti-biotics was "not striking." But they thought it "of interest and worthy of further study."

Airliner Lands With Engine Fire

LONDON (UP)—A Constellation airliner with 59 persons aboard flew into London Airport from New York Tuesday night with smoke and flame spewing from an engine. Capt. R. W. Picotte of Brookfield, Conn., brought the plane down safely. Experts said the fire broke out in the outer right engine when oil flowed through a broken seal onto the red hot turbine exhaust.

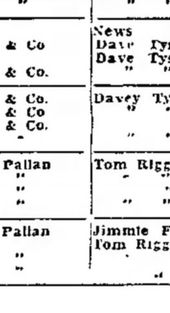
TV Puppeteer Can Be Busy Boy at Times

By WILLIAM EWALD

NEW YORK (UP)—Gus Alle-gretti is a moose. He is also a coconut, a grandfather clock, a dog, a flower, a riddle-a-diddle box and several unidentifiable geometric shapes.

Gus, who otherwise is shaped pretty normally, toils for the "Captain Kangaroo" show, a CBS-TV romp aimed at the kiddie trade. Gus, 30, is the puppeteer and animator of the show.



William Ewald

"Sometimes it gets pretty frantic," observed Gus today. "I take on all these roles, but I have to kind of duck-waddle around the set so the camera won't catch me. Over a few minutes, I may have to do a bit inside our grandfather clock, then crouch my way over to our moose head, then jump back in the clock, then head for our dog, or rabbit, or maybe, back to the moose.

"I tell you, you not only need a lot of voices for this kind of work, you've also got to be in excellent physical shape."

Gus has bivouacked with "Captain Kangaroo" since the show pitched camp at CBS about a year and a half ago. Before enlisting with "Kangaroo," Gus served as a writer and puppeteer for "Rootie Kazootie," another TV epic slanted at the yo-yo set.

Although Gus usually isn't seen on-camera (unless he mistakenly waddles too high), his charges carry a large burden of the show. He may be the only performer in the history of TV to pass his working hours inside a clock.

"It's called 'Grandfather Clock' and the clock is one of the main characters on the show," explained Gus. "I stand inside and work his eyes with my hand and his mouth with my foot. I speak for him, too—he kind of sounds like a horse.

Mr. Moose Is Different

"Now, 'Mr. Moose' is a little different. He's a puppet made out of my wife's false eyelashes with old socks in his lining and ping pong balls for eyes—in fact, his left eyeball still says 'made in Japan.' He kind of speaks in a falsetto voice.

"But they're only part of my job. I do a dog character, a rabbit, Mr. Monkey, Mr. Teddy Bear, Miss Pussy Cat, Mr. Tiger and something we call Mr. Radio Announcer—he speaks through an old-fashioned radio.

"So far," said Gus, I've managed to make out all right. But let me tell you, when you're dashing around the studio like I am, it's quite a trick to keep the clock from talking like the dog and the dog from talking like the moose."

Special Fee Proposed for Station Wagon

HARRISBURG (UP)—The state Senate today studied House approved legislation to create a special $12 "suburban license fee" for station wagon owners.

The House Monday passed legislation, 120-61, to place a standard $12 fee on licensing station wagons for commercial or passenger use. Owners now pay a $10 fee for vehicles used for passengers and $15 for commercial use.

Rep. Albert E. Strausser (R-Columbia), a co-sponsor, said the legislation was needed to keep station wagon owners "honest." He said many used their vehicles for commercial uses while holding a passenger license tag.

Rep. William G. Piper (R-Berks) charged the bill was discriminatory and would result in a drop in revenue for the Motor License Fund.

Watch Child's Nose When He Has Cold

By H. N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

Watch your child's nose when he has a cold. You may learn a lot.

While you can't tell whether he is ill or well simply by feeling his nose, as in the case of dogs, you may be able to ascertain whether his cold is caused by an allergy or a virus.

Now nose wiping is not a subject widely discussed about the average home. But, many doctors advise, as parents you should watch for your youngster to give the — allergic salute.

In this maneuver, he elevates the tip of his nose with the palm of his hand in an upward movement. It is entirely different than the usual gesture of wiping from side to side to relieve the nose of mucus.

Through experience, the youngster has discovered that this gesture will somewhat relieve the nasal obstruction. It is a pretty good indication that a virus is not responsible for the cold.

Other indications of allergic rhinitis are wrinkling of the nose and mouth. A youngster may try one or both in an effort to relieve the itching caused by a nasal allergy.

Both types of colds are prevalent during the spring months.

Actually, the less your child — or anyone for that matter—blows his nose when he has the cold, the better it is. That blast of exhaled air and debris has a greater chance of contaminating a sinus than inhaled contaminants.

In short, it is better to sniff than to blow.

The safest thing to do when you have a cold usually is to sniff the mucus to the back of your throat and then spit it out.

If you must blow, hold your handkerchief loosely. Blow easily, being careful not to press both nostrils closed at the same time. Violent nose blowing might push the mucus from the back of your throat through the eustachian tube into the middle ear.

This could mean real trouble.

In the Middle Ages, ears of wheat, symbolic of plenty, were worn or carried by the bride.

OH, COME, LET'S NOT BE LIKE THAT—NOW THAT WE'RE NOT MARRIED, LET'S CELEBRATE!— HOW ABOUT ASKING ME FOR A DATE TONIGHT?
WOMEN!! WOMEN!! THE ONE UNEXPLAINED RIDDLE IN LIFE
MARK TRAIL
THE BEAR MOUNTAIN ROAD IS EXCEEDINGLY DANGEROUS...DURING OUR LAST HEAVY SNOW, A DEATH-DEALING SLIDE RIPPED DOWN THE MOUNTAIN...
IT WOULD HAVE KILLED ANYONE WHO WAS ON THE ROAD AT THE TIME...NOW THE EMINENT MR TRAIL SAYS THE SLIDE WAS MAN-MADE...I ASK HIM TO PROVE IT!
MEANWHILE
FRANKLY, MRS. WILKS, I DON'T KNOW WHAT IT IS...YOU HAD BETTER GET HIS FATHER!
MISS PEACH
LET'S PLAY SOMETHING BEFORE THE BELL RINGS!
O.K! I MUST BE A MOUNTIE AND YOU MUST BE A HORSE THIEF!
NO! HE MUST BE A HORSE THIEF AND I MUST BE A SCOTLAND YARD...
NO! YOU AND THEY MUST BE SCOTLAND YARDS, WE MUST BE F.B.I.s, AND HE MUST BE A MOUNTIE...
NO! I MUST BE--WAS THAT THE BELL?
R-RING-G!

ELLSWORTH
HELLO, ELSWORTH, THIS IS JIMMY!
WHAT YOU WANT?
WHAT YOU DOIN'?
NUTHIN'--WHAT YOU DOIN'?
NUTHIN'!
THAT'S FUNNY...
WE'RE BOTH DOIN' THE SAME THING!
PRIVATE BEETLE BAILEY
SOME OF YOU THINK BECAUSE YOU'VE BEEN TO COLLEGE THAT YOU'RE SO SMART!
WELL, I'VE BEEN TO ANOTHER SCHOOL--A TOUGHER SCHOOL THAN YOU EVER SAW--THE SCHOOL OF HARD KNOCKS!
IS THAT WHAT MAKES YOUR HEAD SO LUMPY?
ARCHIE
BETTY, DID YOU WALK?
I HAD TO! ARCHIE BROUGHT A HORSE TO SCHOOL!
OFFICE
OH, THAT'S RIGHT! JUGHEAD BROUGHT ONE, TOO!
THEY HAVE THEM DOWN IN THE CAFETERIA!
WHAT IN THE WORLD FOR?
TO FEED THE BOYS AT THE BASKETBALL BANQUET!
ETTA KETT
OH, DAD, REALLY." DON'T BE SO LEAPY.' IT'S ONLY BUTCH THE NEIGHBOR BOY'
BE CAREFUL, BUTCH! DON'T SAY OR DO ANYTHING TO UPSET MY DAD, PLEASE'
OKAY.
THAT'S THE DOORBELL, ETTA! I'LL GET IT"
HELLO, SONNY.' I'D LIKE TO SEE THE HEAD OF THE HOUSE.'
MRS. KETT'S NOT HOME.
